High school shows good football team

By TOUCHDOWN

Coronado high school football players go into their second game of the season tomorrow night at Cutler Field with St. Augustine as opponents after an opening loss to Laguna Beach in the final seconds of play last Friday.

The score of 7 for Laguna and 6 for Coronado was the same tight difference as last year between the two teams. Laguna last Friday night at Cutler scored in the last minute of play after it had seemed certain Coronado would win a 6 to zero winner, following Willie Dickey's interception of a pass and a race 85 yards down the field and over the goal line in the third quarter.

Late in the fourth period Coronado, paced by some fine line bucking and ends around running by Ovrom and Howard and some smart quarterbacking by Worthington, brought the ball down to the Laguna 8 yard marker, where the Artists held and took over after the Islanders' momentum was broken by the team taking a time out. Incidentally, the Coronado score had come after the Laguna captain also had taken a time out in the midst of a march down the field, two technical errors that set up the defense and stopped prospective TDs by one team and resulted in scores by the other.

Mike Smithy called the shots for Laguna in the final minutes of play and led his squad in a march clear down the field, changing his pace with passes (two of which he completed for long gains) and flippers to other chargers, and carrying the ball himself. With a fourth down and 6 to go, Smith tossed a 25 yarder to Frank Wilson on the 4 yard marker. Smith then lunged over center for the touchdown. That and another pass by Smith to Wilson for the point was the difference that sent Coronado rooters home slightly unhappy.

Not too sad, though, for the Islanders, after an initial period of some jitters that resulted in too many offside penalties, buckled down and played the kind of heads up and effective football that should win plenty of games this year.

Play spilling by Townsend, McInerney and Verdusco, with many an assist from Dickey and Howard, spoiled plenty of Laguna shots for yardage.

The boys look good. Two closely matched teams gave thrills to a capacity crowd at the opener.

It's the Avocado Loop this year, with some of the old Metro circuit teams being joined by Fallbrook. The League season opens October 15 against Vista at Vista. Next home game after the non-league tilt against St. Augustine tomorrow will be October 29 against Oceanside, a team this year playing without the redoubtable C. R. Roberts, who has gone to higher halls of learning, much to the satisfaction of local gridders.

CARLENE ALLEN was chosen as September's Girl of the Month at Coronado high school. A senior, she is president of the Booster Club.

Coronado High Will Turn Out for Green & White Day Tomorrow

By GAYLE LELAND

Green, white (clap, clap)
Fight, fight (clap, clap)
Win tonight (clap, clap)
Yea, Islanders!

This is just one of the many cheers that will be sounding up and down the halls on October 1, Coronado high school's annual Green and White Day.

Green and White Day is the yearly event to build up school spirit and to celebrate Coronado high's school colors, which are of course green and white, the theme in which Sally Johnson's committee will decorate the school patio.

This event usually takes place on the day of an afternoon football game and the noon period is spent building up the spirit with a big pep and car rally. There are no day games scheduled for this year, so all of this happens on the day of the Saint Augustine-Coronado football game to be played at 8 p.m. To take care of the noon time activities, the lunch period will be lengthened.

Entertainment is to be furnished by the freshman class, since it is also freshman initiation day. Part of their initiation consists of being the clean-up committee.

To pep up the school spirit will be the cheer-leaders: Dartha Brokenshire, Betsy Lahmann, Leona Huffman and Claudette Cason; the song-leaders: Linda Davis, Marilyn Lamberton, Karen Kahl, Marjorie McKechnie and Marcia Welch; also majorettes Judy Fox and Earleen Huffman, who have made up a lot of new routines.

VICTORY SNATCHED AWAY

Coronado Blows Last-Second Duke

A scoring pass in the last 30 seconds of the game and a conversion gave Laguna Beach a 7-6 win over Coronado High in the Islanders' football opener last night on the losers' gridiron.

Coronado apparently had victory sewed up after Willie Dickey's 85-yard run with an intercepted pass in the third period.

But a desperation pass from Mike Smith to Frank Wilson covered 25-yards and enabled the visitors to tie the score. Then Doug Toner kicked the deciding point.

Coronado line play fine in defeat

By DICK•STANFORD

In a tight defensive battle Coronado high school's football forces lost to Saint Augustine, 6-0, last Friday night. A traditional battle, the game was almost all line play.

CHS's Mr. Left inside and Mr. Right inside, "Cracker" Howard and "Skip" Ovrom, made yardage consistently by off-tackle plays during the first half. Often deep in Saint Augustine territory, the Islanders were hampered by fumbles.

Coronado was sorely hurt, near the end of the second quarter, when Ovrom suffered a dislocated shoulder. He is expected to be back in action by the time of the first league game.

Highlight of the first half was the goal line stand made by the Green Wave. The St. Augustines drove to the Coronado 2 yard line, making it first and goal to go. The rock-ribbed men of the Isle Coronado could get off a play, the held for all four downs. Before gun sounded, ending the first half.

Clarence Mascari of the visitors ran the second half kickoff back 70 yards to a touchdown. Mascari received the kickoff on his 30 yard line, faked away four would-be tacklers, took to his left sideline and ran all the way for 6 points. Hot pursuit was given by Coronado, but to no avail. Lopez's conversion attempt was blocked by Jack Donovan.

Donovan and Walt Heinecke, both under 150 pounds, played fine defensive ball all evening.

The second half was the same as the first. The teams fought back and forth with Saint Augustine making a little more yardage than the Islanders.

In the closing minutes of the game, Bob McInerney, who can pass a long ball, was moved from center to quarterback. No passes were completed in the attempt to make an aerial score, but promise of a pass offense was shown. McInerney punted for a 42 yard average during the game—fine in anybody's book.

Bill Townsend, one of the trio of game captains—McInerney, Ovrom and Townsend—gave Coronado its biggest break when he tackled the Saints quarterback, who was attempting to pass, and threw him for a 15 yard loss.

Tomorrow (Friday) night the Islanders travel to Escondido for the first annual Avocado League Football Carnival. It will be the inlanders, Escondido, Vista and Fallbrook, against the coasters: Oceanside, San Dieguito and Coronado.

In the carnival the Green Wave will meet the Warriors of Fallbrook for 15 minutes. The other 30 minutes Oceanside will meet Escondido and San Dieguito goes against Vista. Since Escondido should take Oceanside by the same margin that San Dieguito probably will take Vista, it will be up to Coronado to win the "North County Fair" for the Coasters.

IN FOOTBALL

We've got what it takes!

By TOUCHDOWN

St. Augustine beat us last Friday 6-0 in an exhibition. The league starts for us tomorrow (Friday) at Escondido and I'll say this: we don't look too bad and we're gonna win some games!

One thing, we gotta line that's rough and tough. They'll be the best in the Avocado League soon as coach Sunday Durland gives his ends a few lessons.

Opinion on the street seems to indicate we need imagination in the backfield. I'd say Worthington has got the goods if he's just turned loose. He doesn't weigh 135 pounds soaking wet and with a rock in each hand, but he's got what it takes for sense and sand.

With guys in the line like Bob McInerney, Ron Doug, Dave Verdusco, Stan Baker, Cliff Atkinson, and "Eat 'Em Alive Townsend, our prediction from the Journal to the team is—Believe in yourself and you can beat 'em all. There's a lot of people watchin' you and wanting you to be top dogs. Let's do it!

Avocado Leaguers Hold 1st Carnival

The new Avocado League will hold its first annual Football Carnival tonight in Escondido High's new Vallecitos Stadium.

Pre-game festivities get underway at 7:30 and the first of three 20-minute games starts at 8.

Tonight's lineups slate the inland teams against those from the coast. Escondido, Vista and Fallbrook, the inland squads, will go against Oceanside, San Dieguito and Coronado in that order.

Bands and drill teams from all six schools will cavort in the pre-game formations with James Dye, of San Dieguito, serving as coordinator of the bands.

Students from the inland schools will sit on the East side of the stadium and the coast groups will hold the West side.

From all indications the founding fathers have a good set-up for their initial carnival. They have pitted old rivals Escondido and Oceanside in the first tilt and bitter foes Vista and San Dieguito against each other in the second game. Either of these games would demand top billing on an ordinary weekend.

The meetings between Coronado and Fallbrook have been few and far between and they can hardly be considered old rivals. However, Fallbrook brings an unbeaten record into the game, whereas Coronado is yet to enter the winner's circle this season.

The San Dieguito-Vista clash pits two undefeated teams. San Dieguito claims a lopsided victory over Army and Navy Academy and Vista has won close games from Banning and Mar Vista.

Escondido, one of the preseason favorites, has taken its lumps thus far this season, but the Cougars are always tough against Oceanside, which has split decisions in early outings.

Band plays at grid carnival

By PHIL ANDREEN

The Coronado high school band gave its first public marching performance last Friday, when it played and marched at the Avocado League Football Carnival in Escondido.

The pregame ceremony was built around bands from Coronado, Fallbrook, Escondido, San Dieguito, Vista and Oceanside, all of which marched across the field playing their school songs. When it came Coronado's turn, the band played "On Coronado."

The bands then marched into their positions to spell out "Avocado," Coronado being the top and bottom of the C and one line of the A.

The combined bands played the "Star Spangled Banner" and marched off the field. The "Star Spangled Banner" was led by Albert Kiasic. James B. Dye was director of the ceremony.

Saints Subdue Islanders, 6-0

Last night's St. Augustine-Coronado game was predicted to be a close one between the two tough defensive teams. The Saints had the one big break and they took advantage of it to down the host Islanders, 6-0.

Clarence Mascari snaked through the entire Coronado team as he traveled 70-yards to tally the game's only score on the second half kickoff.

The Saints outgained the Islanders, 321 yards to 161, but couldn't push over another score. St. Augustine was four yards from scoring when the first half ended.

Coronado drove inside of St. Augustine's 10-yard line on three occasions, but couldn't tally. Summary:

St. Augustine	0	0	6	0	6
Coronado	0	0	0	0	0

St. Augustine Scoring: TD—Mascari.

Islander Gridders Score With Everything but a Touchdown

By DICK STANFORD

"Just what does a team have to do to win in this sport?" That's the only comment from Coach "Sunday" Durland's football camp after the locals' heartbreaker loss to the Oceanside Pirates last Friday night.

The Islanders worked harder than any team in the county last week. They followed the professionals' practice schedule and quit only when they looked like same.

Then what happened? One hundred thirty-two pounds of greased lightning named Jack Foster struck midway through the last quarter for six points. Add a tackle named Yasukochi's conversion and the game story is complete.

One might slip in that the Greenies showed that they could go around end, too. Also noticeable was that Herman Wright has come into his own as a broken field runner. It's a fact that Islander center Bob McInerney gained 198 yards punting. It's also true that the Pirates outgained Coronado by a scant 12 yards in total yards gained.

One thing is for sure and certain. Coronado has more right to a crying towel than any team around. Well, the past cannot be changed.

Upset minded, the Green Wave goes to Escondido tomorrow (Friday) night to play the ever tough EUHS Cougars. With a few breaks, and plenty of spirit, the Wave will record in the positive column.

For all going to the game: Try to get there by 6 o'clock. That's when Coach John Baker's undefeated Islander Bees start their game with Escondido for the Bee league championship.

PIRATES LEAD WITH ASSIST FROM VISTA

Oceanside's Pirates are sitting all alone atop the Avocado League football standings, thanks to their 6-0 victory over Coronado and an assist from Vista in last night's action.

Vista upset Escondido, which shared the loop lead with the Pirates. Oceanside has a 3-0 league record.

Halfback Otis Foster scored the only touchdown of the game midway of the final quarter on a 20-yard dash. Oceanside had moved to the Coronado 15-yard line earlier in the game only to lose the ball. Summary:

Coronado	0	0	0	0—0
Oceanside	0	0	0	6—6

Oceanside scoring: TD—Foster.

Inlanders Bag 21-13 Win in Grid Carnival

The first annual Avocado League Fjotball Carnival was held in Escondido's new Vallecitos Stadium last night with the Inlanders edging the Coast teams, 21-13, before 5,200 fans.

Escondido, Vista and Fallbrook played for the Inland team and Oceanside, San Dieguito and Coronado represented the Coast.

Escondido downed old rival Oceanside, 14-7, in the first of the three 20-minute games. Then Vista and San Dieguito played to a scoreless tie. Fallbrook slipped past Coronado, 7-6, in the finale.

Bob Tyree ran 22 yards and Bill Steward dashed 62 to furnish the two Escondido touchdowns. Oceanside marked its touchdown on a 66-yard pass play from quarterback Allen Stelmach to halfback Bruce Ganoe.

Fallbrook, undefeated thus far in non-league action, jumped into a quick lead over Coronado with a 67-yard pass play from fullback Hank Meza to end Winston Wade.

Coronado roared back with a 55-yard drive, capped off by veteran Bob McInerney's two-foot scoring plunge.

Three members of the league face non-loop opposition today, with all of the games on the road. Mar Vista, of the Metropolitan League, hosts Oceanside in an afternoon game at 2:30 and Fallbrook is at Brea-Olinda and Escondido plays Sweetwater on the Chula Vista field in night games.

Coronado High Gridders Hit High And Low Marks in Two Games

By DICK STANFORD

One win and one loss is now the record of the Coronado high school Islanders after two weeks of league football play. Last Friday the Green Wave was taken by the Mustangs of San Dieguito, 10-0. The preceding week CHS won its first football game since 1953 by defeating Vista, 14-12.

The Vista game was a study of how poorly a football team can play compared to how brilliantly it might perform. The first half the Islanders were a listless group of individuals. They allowed the Vista backs to run at will. One, Joe Lopez, went 20 yards for a TD in the first quarter. At half time the big change took place Evidently the Wave decided then to play football as it should be played.

Working as a well adjusted football machine, the CHS was an irresistible force as it boomed to a touchdown at the first of the third quarter. "Cracker" Howard carried it over. Norm Silverman moved back from the guard spot and scored the first of his two all-important points after touchdown.

Then, a case of first half listlessness took its toll. Bruce Johnson, Vista halfback and supposedly the fastest man in the conference, lined up to punt, faked it, and ran 40 yards for the second Panther TD. The Vista converter failed again. This made it 12-7, to the Panthers' advantage, going into the final quarter.

Again the Islanders turned on the power, with little Jim Worthington plunging over the payoff line from the three. Silverman again assumed the position, making it 14-12. That was the way it ended.

Last Friday night was one of those evening when everything goes wrong. San Dieguito's Mustangs needed only a set of brothers and a few breaks to defeat the Islanders. They had 'em.

In the second quarter San Dieguito's Chuck Sabaito scored six points with a TD and Rich Sabaito added four more with a conversion and a field yoal. His field goal was the first ever scored in the Avocado League. This was the story of the game.

With renewed determination the Wave rolls against the Oceanside Pirates tomorrow (Friday) night on home grounds. Rugged scrimmages and warnings of Oceanside speed have been the highlights of the locals' practice for the last week.

As said before, "Believe in yourselves, Islanders, and you'll win 'em!"

Salbatos Show Way

The Salbato brothers had quite an evening in San Dieguitio last night as they led the Mustangs past Coronado's Islanders, 10-0, to claim their first Avocado League football victory.

All of the scoring was in the second quarter. Chuck Salbato scored the only touchdown on a five-yeard plunge. The TD had been set up on a 50-yard pass-run play from quarterback Jerry Stilley to Richie Salbato.

Richie kicked the extra point. Then later in the stanza the Mustangs were hamstrung by the visitors and Richie dropped back and kicked a 15-yard field goal.

Coronado got only one drive going and it died 20 yards from paydirt in the final quarter. Summary:

Coronado	0	0	0	0— 0
San Dieguito	0	10	0	0—10

San Dieguito scoring: TD—C. Salbato; PAT—R. Salbato; Field goal—R. Salbato.

TALK ABOUT TEENS

Coronado High Clubs Varied and Active

Coronado High School boasts a club for every interest. The Art Club, Library Club, Girls Athletic Association, "Y" Clubs and a Drama Club (members are called "Spotlighters") are a few.

The largest club in the school is the French Club. Recent elections resulted in Peggy Moser being addressed as "Madame" President. Other officers are Cliff Atkinson, Sam Perkins, and Jim Coley.

The French Club counts among its activities, snow trips, steak feeds and a Christmas night dance.

Booster Club

Another very active organization is the Booster Club, with Carlene Allen, president; Rosalee Reed, vice president; Linda Spence, secretary; and Marilyn Gerson, treasurer. Its purpose is to boost school spirit, natch.

Barbara Allen was elected president of the Spanish Club. Other officers are Eloiza Cicneros, Susan Johnson and Sidney Clark. A trip to Tijuana, taco parties and snow jaunts are a few of this popular club's activities.

Forum Topics

The Forum Club, a discussion group, recently elected Carl Moyer chairman. This organization meets to talk over the pros and cons of current and controversial subjects—everything from euthanasia to "has the executive committee the right to make students participating in all or any school affairs buy ASB cards?"

At last week's meeting, held at the home of member Bill Brow, the "senior privilege" problem was a main topic. Hugh Howard acted as moderator. At the next meeting the subject will be "Segregation in Schools."

Juniors and Seniors

Members are 25 juniors and seniors selected by their teachers.

This year the group includes Joan Moss, Sally Jones, John Yeager, Dick Stanford, Howard Young, Carl Moyer, Norman Silverman.

Greta Van Evera, Earl Barlow, Dartha Brokenshire, Sue Schaefer, Al Ovrom, Dorothy Tato, Penny Dewar, Hugh Howard, Bill Brow, Sally Johnson, Jim Coley, Marcia Cady, Barbara Allen, Sidney Clark, Lamont Dixon, Peggy Moser, George Davis and Frank Scanland.

Charm Course Offered at The High School

A charm course is being offered the senior and junior class girls at Coronado high school by Kippys of Coronado and School of Fashionality, San Diego.

The educational program encourages young women to improve personal appearances, thereby gaining more self-confidence, poise and a feeling of assurance, said Bill Kipperman.

The course is six lessons, the first November 5, was about the figure. This class was conducted by Miss Margaret Sutton, who stressed the importance of posture, quietness of manner and the proper way to walk.

Next Friday Jimmie Davis of San Diego will lecture on "A Girl's Crowning Glory" and will demonstrate his talk with the hair restyling for a blonde and a brunet.

Other classes will be: "Are You Putting Your Best Face Forward?" (makeup); Model's Secrets, Fashions and Trends, and will terminate with a fashion show.

The idea to sponsor this course goes back to the educational training of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kipperman, of Kippys, who were commercial teachers in New Jersey.

'Away' Games Prove Popular

Away football games are becoming increasingly popular with Coronado students. Ask Ginger Reed. She has the job of chartering buses to haul enthusiastic Islanders all over the county to cheer the team to victory.

Also adding to Coronado's enthusiasm at football games and rallies are cheerleaders headed by Dartha Brokenshire. Claudette Cason, Leona Huffman and Betsy Lahmann are the other three. Their cheering ensembles consist of green corduroy peddle pushers edged with a white "skunk" stripe. These are topped with white middy blouses which are emblazoned with a large letter C. Shoes are green and white saddles, of course!

Pompon Girls

Pompon girls, Linda Davis, Margie McKechnie, Karen Kahl, Marcia Welch and Marilyn Lamberton do a supercolossal job of leading songs. Their costumes are white, princess-styled dresses. The flaring skirts are trimmed with green sequined music notes and green sequins also ornament the stand up collars.

With twirling batons, majorettes Judy Fox and Earlene Huffman lead the band. Their costumes of dark green velvet are sprinkled with silver sequin stars and set a spectacular background for white fur backed collars, fur trimmed boots and headpieces.

Jay Prather hosted a surprise birthday party for his cousin, Pam Prather, recently. A Halloween atmosphere prevailed with black and orange decorations. Pam, who has a Halloween birthday, thought the setting appropriate.

"Trick or treat" specials drew most of the guests and goblins immediately while others danced.

Among the goblins haunting the party were Bob Moore, Linda Davis, Bill Townsend, Carol Noonan, Roddy Spence, Linda Sanford, Jon Crawford, Diane Dally, Becky Dobbins.

Also Betsy Lahmann, Norman Silverman, Marilyn Lamberton, Corey McQuown, Chris Higgenbotham, Carter Nash, Marge McKechnie, Clifford Atkinson, Frannie Schutt and Ed Chew.

Coronado High Begins Fun

Coronado High School sophomores are busy planning the annual Sadie Hawkins Day dance Nov. 6 at Coronado Youth Club. Linda Spence, class secretary, says the motto and decorating theme is, "Hay, hay and more hay."

According to tradition, the girls invite the boys (Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner style) and hillbilly clothes are donned for the evening. Real, rustic refreshments, donuts and cider, will be served to hungry Dogpatch socialites.

While plans are being made for these festivities, the juniors are choosing class rings and the poor Seniors are being swamped with tests—aptitude tests, IQ tests, personality tests and just tests.

And the Freshmen? They had their day, too. On Friday, Coronado's traditional Green and White day, the Freshmen provided entertainment. Lunch was served in the new patio. There was a pep rally with cheer leaders Dartha Brokenshire, Claudette Cason and Leona Huffman teaming with the St. Augustine cheer-leading team and really knocking themselves out with school spirit.

And after that (more already) a car rally was held, with a grand prize of gasoline going to Ernie Wright for the best decorated car, but of course (school colors). Runner up prizes went to Eddie Ingold and Marcia Jacobs.

After the football game that night, "The Islander," Coronado's school paper, hosted a dance held at the Youth Club.

With a start like this, guys and gals at Coronado should expect an active year with lots of fun along with the book work.

Varsity Gridders Swamped by Escondido Cougars

By DICK STANFORD

It was a great night for the Escondido Cougars last Friday as they swamped the Coronado high school varsity, 27-6.

Halfback Bill Steward and fullback Ken Cook, winners of all-conference honorable mentions last year, scored two touchdowns each for Escondido. All four tallies were made on long drives, two being put over in the first quarter, one in the third and one in the fourth.

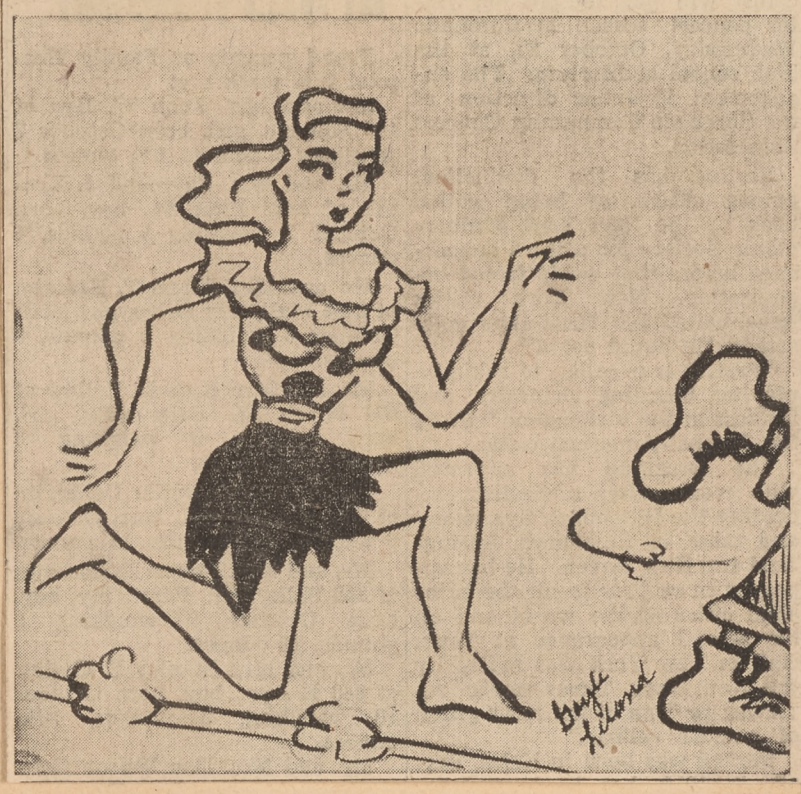
CHS's six points were scored midway through the fourth quarter. Made by Herman Wright, the TD was accomplished by a well executed double reverse. The game-ending gun sounded as the Islanders were threatening to score once more. If the Greenie team had played the whole game as it did in the fourth quarter, there might have been a radical change marked in the total scores.

Beating the Islanders by the worst score they have been taken by for a year wasn't the only poor treatment given the local crew by the Cougars. Escondido's managers sent the Greenie squad to two different dressing quarters, three miles apart, before they decided to let them use one. Thus making CHS's charges a little tardy to game time. This might have played some part in the game, for the Islanders looked as though they were going to take the beating of their life during the first quarter, but improved noticeably as the game progressed.

Escondido's victory made the perfect set-up for tomorrow, Friday, night's game between Oceanside and the Cougars. Riding on a four win, no loss record, the Pirates will have to dump the Cougars, three and one, for clear title to the conference crown.

Tomorrow night, being the last night of league competition, has the Coronado vs. Fallbrook game on tap. Being played on Cutler Field, the loser will be the final cellar-dweller. If the Islanders win, and if Vista beats San Dieguito, Coronado will end up in a three-way tie for third place.

This'll be the day for Sadie Hawkins



By GAYLE LELAND

Grab 'em, gals!

This is the command given to all Coronado high school girls as the traditional Sadie Hawkins Day dance comes up November 6.

For those of you who are not familiar with Sadie Hawkins, she is the lonely gal of Dogpatch, USA, invented by Al Capp, who can't catch a husband. Her wealthy father decided it would be a fate worse than death to have her around for the rest of his life. Hence he invented a day, which he called Sadie Hawkins Day, when any bachelor from 9 to 90 has to marry the girl who catches him.

The scene of all this will be re-enacted at the Sadie Hawkins Day dance at the Coronado Youth Center patio, where loads of hay will be strewn around everywhere and on everything.

The mock marriage ceremonies will be performed by "Marrying Sam," otherwise known as Rodney Ferm, or the sophomore class.

Refreshments will be apple cider and doughnuts to carry out the old time western hill-billy theme.

Bids are being sold at 75 cents per couple by the sophomore class cabinet members.

Committee include: decorations, Pam Prather; publicity, Mary Sherman; refreshments, Tom Burke and Walter Heinecke, and bids, Sharon Sullivan.

Rich Garness, president of the sophomore class, said, "This year's Sadie Hawkins Day will be the biggest and best one yet," and he added, "Just wait and see for yourself."

Island Dance Voted a Hit

Coronado Youth Club, site of numerous teen-age activities, was really a sight last Saturday night. The sophomore class presented its annual Sadie Hawkins Day dance.

The girls, not content with just merely asking the boys, requested that they also dress alike. Most couples wore matching shirts (bought or made by the lasses) and one boy, commenting on the dancers, said, "It looks like one big shirt with two heads."

The patio was decorated with replicas of (unhappily extinct) "schmoos' and (unhappily unextint) shoes. While Dogpatch "sassiety" dined on cookies and cider and danced to the music of a tape recorder (beautifully played by D. R. Michaels, French teacher), "Marry'n Sam" Phil Ardeen passed out curtain rings.

Before the dance, Chloe Phillips entertained at a dinner party featuring spaghetti, while Rosalee Reed barbecued steaks for her friends. Sidney Clark also invited hungry chums to her house.

The Coronado Junior Red Cross, sponsored by W. C. Seaman, principal, held its first meeting recently. Future plans were discussed, including nursing, help to overseas groups and community service. It was decided that officers were to be elected at the next meeting, along with committees to carry out projects.

Coronado Bee squad a team for the future

By DICK STANFORD

The Coronado high school Bee football squad, under the guidance of coach John Baker, will put its undefeated record on the block against Fallbrook's Papoose Warriors tomorrow (Friday) night at 6 o'clock, in a Varsity preliminary.

Last week the little Islanders downed a favored Escondido team, 19-6. Freshman Phil Torry scored one TD and booted an extra point while classmate Harold Tobin ran into paydirt twice for 12 points.

Coach Baker, whose primary purpose is to develop future varsity stars, is hoping that his little Islanders will be at their best for the home town crowd.

"I hope my boys will play the game they're capable of," he said. "If they do, we should win this last league game."

Ominous words have been issued to the little Islanders. Even though Fallbrook's Bees lost to Escondido, 12-6, and San Dieguito, 41-0, they will still be a threat. Up to last year they had a 29 game winning stretch—OK for any team.

For a look at CHS's team of the future, be at the field a little early. The Bees and their coach are probably the most enthusiastic outfit in the area.

Cougars Triumph

Fullback Ken Cook and halfback Bill Steward scored twice each in keeping Escondido in the running for a share of the Avocado League championship last night as the Cougars defeated Coronado, 27-6, in the new Escondido Stadium.

Coronado's lone score was marked on halfback Herman Wright's 34-yard dash in the fourth quarter.

Three of the Escondido scores were on plunges. Steward's second touchdown was scored after he picked up a teammate's fumble and bulldozed nine yards. Summary:

Escondido	13	0	7	7	—27
Coronado	0	0	0	6	— 6

Escondido scoring: TD's—Cook 2, Steward 2; PAT's—C. Sullivan, B. Sullivan, Lester.
Coronado scoring: TD's—Wright.

By PHIL ANDREEN

Once again a new Coronado high school homecoming queen was crowned in half time ceremonies at last week's Fallbrook-Coronado football game.

Greta Van Evera, this year's queen, was escorted by Mike Napolitano, one of five Coronado high graduates. The other four girls on the Homecoming court were Marjorie McKechnie, being escorted by Louis Millen; Betsey Lahmann by Clarence Anderson; Diane Dally by Leo Hansen, and Dartha Brokenshire by Hilding Weisgerber.

The crowning was the climax of half time ceremonies put on by the band.

The Coronado high school band marched to the Fallbrook bleachers under the direction of majorettes Judy Fox and Earleene Huffman and alumna Diane Pierce.

Paul Sykes, dressed as a clown, tumbled in front of the band. Another clown, Mike McDaniels, also added color to the festivities.

On the Fallbrook side the band formed HIF for Hi Fallbrook. Reversing its field, the band then formed HIA for Hi Alumni.

The majorettes performed with fire batons, with the lights on the field turned off.

While the band made a C, Phil Andreen rode a unicycle across the track while playing "On Coronado." The band then marched off the field and lined up on the track while the girls and their escorts walked between the band.

Ballots were scattered on the ground and Sharon Speegle, a 5-year-old majorette, picked one, which Sidney Clark rushed to the announcer's booth where Greta's name was announced.

Maurice Goodbody of Coronado Flowerland donated corsages to the homecoming cause.

Greta was not present at the actual homecoming and Marilyn Lamberton stood in for her. Greta was crowned at the dance.

The mamas, both native Pensacolans, hold the letter worn by Mrs. VanEvera in her three years as cheerleader and remember the annual Pensacola-Springhill football game. Greta, the Homecoming Queen

By GAYLE LELAND

Greta Van Evera, petite and pretty senior, came away from this year's Coronado high school homecoming game with the top honors as queen.

The names of the senior members of the court—Greta and Dartha Brokenshire—were those from which the queen's name was to be chosen. The crowd awaited anxiously while Marvin Nottinghame, the game announcer and high school teacher, read the name drawn from the hat.

The court was composed of a senior, Dartha Brokenshire; a junior, Diane Dally, and two sophomores, Marjie McKechnie and Betsy Lahmann. The court was presented by Louis Millen, Leo Hansen, Clarence Anderson, Mike Napolitano and Hilding Weisgerber, all of whom are Coronado business men and alumni. Then the court was presented with gardenia corsages and the queen was given an orchid corsage. Maurice Goodbody of the Coronado Flowerland donated the corsages. The court and the queen all wore dressy dresses and high heels.

They were again presented at the Homecoming dance sponsored by the Beachcomber (the Coronado high school yearbook) and a special dance was held for just the queen, her court and their escorts.

Oddly enough, Greta's mother and Diane Dally's (the junior member of the court) were on the high school homecoming court together in Pensacola, Fla., where Greta's mother presided as the queen.

Coronado – a second half ball club

By DICK STANFORD

Last Friday night confirmed the fact the Coronado football team is a second-half ball club. The Islanders spotted Fallbrook 20 points in the first two periods and then came back to score 12 in the last two.

Herman Wright scored one CHS touchdown and passed to Cliff Atkinson for the other.

Wright and Jim Worthington made Coronado's passing attack finally have potency. Worthington connected for four out of six for 25 yards and Wright completed two in as many tries for 44.

The Islander ground attack also moved well, with an impressive 283 yards, mostly in the second half.

The Greenies will be missing the services of several first rate performers tomorrow (Friday) night, when they meet the Mar Vista Mariners. Bill Townsend, an offensive and defensive tackle who won all-conference honorable mention last year, will be out due to painful injuries. Mike Moynahan will be en route to Washington, D. C., instead of playing his usual defensive halfback.

Moynahan, a sophomore, is an example of why Coronado has a rugged time on the athletic front. There are too many transfers due to navy orders.

Also missing from the lineup will be Jack Donovan, a fighting ball player who broke his hand in the Escondido game. Preston Probasco, one of the most promising sophomores around, was lost earlier in the season to illness.

The Mar Vista team, scrappy but oft-beaten by its fellow teams in the Metro League, will be "up" to dump the Wave in this last game of the season. Led by fullback Dee Pollack, a former Coronado boy, the Mariners work from the winged tee.

Seniors seeing action for the last time in their high school football career tomorrow night will be lineman Bob McInerney, a veteran of three years; Stan Baker and Norm Silverman, who have each played two years for the varsity; Ron Dong, Ray Rivera and Dick Stanford, performers with one year behind them, and Eddie Ingold, Sherm Manchester, Carter Nash and Dick Owens, players who were newcomers this year.

Playing the backfield for the last time will be John Chrivia, Hugh Howard, Al Ovrom, Bus Spayd and Ernie Wright. Ovrom will be ending his third year; Chrivia and Howard their second and Spayd and Wright their first.

Donovan and Townsend would be completing their last year Friday night had it not been for their injuries.

Warriors in Upset

Fallbrook's Warriors piled up a 20-0 halftime advantage and then sat back to upset Coronado's Islanders, 20-12, in the Avocado League finale for both teams last night at Coronado.

Henry Davis scored the Warriors' first TD as he returned a Coronado punt 30 yards to pay dirt. The second quarter action for Fallbrook saw fullback Hank Meza plunge two yards for one score and pass five yards to Tim Wilbur for another.

Herman Wright dashed 20 yards for the first Coronado touchdown and then passed 25 yards to Cliff Atkinson for the other. Summary:

Fallbrook	6	14	0	0—20
Coronado	0	0	6	6—12

Fallbrook scoring: TD's—Davis, Meza, Wilbur; PAT's—Calac 2.

Coronado scoring: TD's—Wright, Atkinson.

BEE TEAM WINS TITLE OF NEW AVOCADO LEAGUE

By DICK STANFORD

The Coronado high school Bee team is now the champion of the league after its 12-0 win over the Fallbrook Bee squad last Friday night.

Harold Tobin and Bob Frankhouser, both frosh, ran over the teedees for the little Islanders in the second and fourth periods.

For their championship efforts the Bees will have the honor of keeping the Avocado Bee Champions trophy for at least a year. The trophy, donated by the Fallbrook Enterprise, is a perpetual trophy that rests permanently at one school only after that school has been the champ for three straight years. Also going to the Bees should be gold footballs, an honor usually placed upon a championship team by its own school.

The little Islanders have done themselves proud this year. They appear to be a group that will aid the varsity in a few years. Playing football as it should be played, they have settled down to business at practices and have planned for one game at a time.

The Bees have a defense that held six opponents to an average of only 6.67 points per game. Stalwarts on the Bee defensive have been ends Edmund Galvan and Edgar Lopez, two alert boys who'll stop an end sweep any time. Stopping ball-packers going through the middle have been boys like John Dewar, Carl Cain, Phil Manlekorn and Kip O'Conner.

The little Wave's offense has one junior, two sophomores and six promising freshmen. If the navy will let these boys stay in Coronado, CHS will soon have one terrific championship varsity team.

So happy was Coach John Baker after his charges' championship efforts that his wife baked a huge cake ornamented to look like a football field for his team.

This Friday night the Bees tackle the Mar Vista Bee squad in a varsity prelim at 6 o'clock.

The minor Mariners have been beaten by Vista, 6-0, and Oceanside, 19-6. Coronado Bees took these teams by the tune of 27-7 anl 7-6, in that order.

However, don't sell the Mar Vista team short. Coronado has never beaten the Mariners in a Bee football game. The Islanders will have everything to lose when they place their undefeated record on the block against the Mariners. It should prove to be a terrific game.

TAKE A LOOK! Sally Jones, Marilyn Gerson, Linda Sanford, Becky Dobbins and Gayle Leland, Coronado Senior Tri-Hi-Y members, reviewing events at the annual Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y camp at Camp Marston, near Julian, Nov. 13-14. Others present were Barbara Allen, sponsoring Hi-Y Tri Hi-Y Council secretary, and Dartha Brokenshire. They were among 70 Y members from 12 high schools to participate in training sessions, social events and recreation.

Coronado Girls Report Activities

Island belles impatiently await their copies of the Girl's League Gazette each month, and no wonder! This interesting publication presents articles, stories, fashions, student news and . . . gossip.

Marcia Jacobs is Bulletin editor and Ginger Reed is talented art editor. Girl's League reporters are Sally Johnson, Marilyn Gersen, Linda Davis, Linda Sanford, Pam Prather, Cris Higginbotham, Marilyn McBurney and Sally Sears.

Sally Jones, Dartha Brokenshire, Gretta van Evera, Edith Kurtz and Sharon Sullivan represented the Coronado Girl's League at a recent conference at Helix High.

Topic Conference was "Destination Success," with Mrs. Jens Hutchens and Dr. William Livingston as guest speakers. Decorations followed the "outerspace" theme right down to space beanies for each girl.

Inter Tri Hi-Y girls held a joint meeting with Chula Vista's Hi-Y boys recently at Betsey Lahmann's. After a short business meeting, members enjoyed dancing and refreshments prepared by Betsey and Marjie McKetchnie.

Later in the week, the Senior Tri Hi-Y entertained Point Loma Hi-Y boys at the home of Peggy Moser. After introductions by Marilyn Gerson and Charles Velasquez, presiding officers of the two organizations, music and food (two of the best known ice-breakers in existence) made their appearance.

Carlene Allen and Carl Moyer, senior students at Coronado, have been elected girl and boy of the month. Carlene is president of the Booster Club and an active member of several other organizations. Carl is ASB Vice President, life member of CSF and Forum Club chairman.

Mar Vistans, Coronado Mix

Coronado's Islanders host Mar Vista's Mariners tonight at 8 in a non-league game, the last football action of the season for both teams.

Both teams took their lumps this season, Coronado in the Avocado loop and Mar Vista in the Metro. Each managed to win but one game this year.

However, Coronado will be a slight favorite in the game due to a better defense. The Islanders have been beaten often, but not by large scores.

Escondido, the only other Avocado League member to see action this weekend, plays its season finale at Palo Verde.

ISLANDERS WIN, 28-12

Coronado's Islanders, paced by redhot Hugh Howard, finished off their football season with a 28-12 non-league victory over Mar Vista's Mariners last night on the victors' field.

Howard scored three touchdowns on runs of 85, 46 and 11 yards. Herman Wright traveled 55 yards in scoring the other Coronado touchdown.

Quarterback Ed Routh scored on a two-yard plunge and halfback Dee Pollock dived three yards for the Mar Vista touchdowns.

Coronado completed its first season in the Avocado League in the loop's cellar. Mar Vista held down the same spot in the Metropolitan League. Summary:

Mar Vista	.....	0	6	0	6—12
Coronadao	.....	14	0	7	7—28

Mar Vista scoring: TD's—Routh, Pollock.

Coronadao scoring: TD's—Howard 3, Wright; PAT's—Silverman 4.

Green Wave rolls over Mar Vista

By DICK STANFORD

Playing flawless football, Coach "Sunday" Durland's unpredictable Coronado Green Wave rolled over Mar Vista high school last Friday night to the score of 28-12 in the last game of the season.

Led by Hugh (Cracker) Howard's great running, the Islanders scored in all four quarters. Howard carried the ball into the end zone on jaunts of 46, 85 and 11 yards. Herman Wright, a junior who will be back for the Greenies next year, scored the other TD on a 55 yard ramble.

Wright tallied first when he went around his left end on a double reverse. Although the play caught the majority of the Mar Vista team off balance, he still had to wiggle through several would-be tacklers. And wiggle he did. The Isle hasn't seen such "seatbackin' " since the days of the brilliant Harry Sykes. Wright has scored before on the same play.

Halfback Ed Routh, of the visitors, scored early in the second period, but the Wave came right back in true winning form on Howard's first touchdown.

Two minutes after the third quarter began, Cracker traveled 85 yards for number two. He carried a Mar Vista man for five yards, but shook him off.

Soon after the fourth stanza began, the locals put up a brick wall goal-line stand. This caused the Mar Vistans to lose the ball on a series of downs. With the pigskin on their own four-yard line the Islanders proceeded to make a score the hard way. They marched 96 yards. This was capped by Howard's dash around end for six.

Four times during the evening team co-captain Norm Silverman assumed the place kicker's position and four times he split the uprights. These efforts boosted his season's total to six points.

The Wave outgained the Mariners 418 to 202 in total yardage. So potent was the hometown offense that big Bob McInerney had to execute a fourth down punt only once. His punt sailed 46 yards.

Taking the spotlight for the night, though, was Howard. He carried the ball 17 times for 247 yards. The well built scatback used both speed and power in making his gains.

Helpful to Howard's running was the blocking of versatile Al Ovrom, who played tackle, halfback, and even kicked off once during the evening. Ronnie Dong, considered by many the best guard in the league, also delivered some bone-shattering blocks.

The heart of the crowd went to Bill Townsend. The first string tackle, sitting out the game because of injuries, died a million times because he could not get in with his team.

The night was one that will be remembered for quite a while. It was marred only by the hertofore unbeaten Bees' loss to the Mar Vista Bee squad. The Bees faced tragedy by the score of nothing to 19. The Little Avocado League champs just happened to have a bad night.

Coronado High Teens Hear Famous Pianist

Islanders were privileged to hear world-famous pianist, Theodore Ullmann, recently at a concert in the school auditorium. Mr. Ullmann recently completed a tour of the United States.

The a cappella choir, directed by Mrs. James A. Huser, gathered beneath Coronado's big Rotary Christmas tree and sang Christmas songs one night recently.

The green and white robed boys and girls generated such a seasonal spirit in the crowd that they joined in a few carols. Dick Owens sang "In Heaven Above" as a solo.

The choir's next appearance will be at the Christmas program tomorrow in the school auditorium, where the band, directed by Paul Henneberg, will also perform.

Senior Hi-Y has inducted 22 boys. Norman Silverman is president; Carl Moyer, vice-president, and other officers are Al Ovrum, Don Gilliland, Bill Brow and Hugh Howard.

New officers were elected at the "Casualier" dance last week, when the music was stopped and ballots passed around. Replacing Mike Hartman as president is Sidney Clark.

Tijuana School and Town through a Student's Eye

By PHIL ANDREEN
(Coronado High School)

Coronado high school's Spanish Club took their annual Tijuana excursion recently under the supervision of Arnold Alcaraz, Spanish teacher.

Parents drove the club members, who had been excused from school for the trip.

The first sight of interest in Tijuana was the Escuela de Ensenanzas, where the group met the students attending. Manuel Capaceta, principal, showed different classes to the group, and took them to the soccer field where the drum and bugle corps were marching.

A program of Spanish dances, guitars, singers, piano players and entertainers was seen at the beautifully decorated assembly hall, formerly a gambling casino.

The wood and metal shops were seen next, and by this time everyone was on his own, trying to converse in Spanish with the "amigos" they had met.

After the tour of the school was complete, the group said "Adios" and went to downtown Tijuana, traveling in groups under parent supervision.

After inspection of the downtown shops, everyone went to a restaurant for a Spanish meal. There was music with guitars and singing for entertainment.

The group arrived home weary but thrilled with the day's adventures.

Student Activities On the Island

Coronado High's Spanish Club enjoyed an outing last Tuesday, in Tijuana, where they toured Agua Caliente School, attended classes, saw the swimming pool and were entertained in the auditorium with Mexican songs and dances. The school, formerly a fashionable casino, is magnificent.

The club, under supervision of A. Alcarez, Spanish instructor, was invited to the annual graduation ball by their gracious hosts.

After viewing the school, the students toured the city in small groups and later met for a Mexican dinner at Marianna's Cafe.

Sally Jones, senior, was chosen Girl of the Month by the Girls' League Cabinet for her work on green and white day. Sally is president of Girls' League, Tri-Hi-Y Parlementarian, yearbook business manager and a member of both the the Forum Club and the Boosters.

Boy of the Month, Richard Maxey, was chosen by the Boys' Federation. This senior was selected for work on the Senor Hi-Y hot-dog stand, a busy concession at all football games.

Taco Parties Also Popular on 'Island'

Another version of the popular "taco party" was given recently by Joan Compton, Coronado High. Mexican music, maracas, candlelight and castanets lent a distinct "Hernando's Hideaway" air to the affair.

Senor Mickey Compton and Senorita Lyn Richards cheffed while Dartha Brokenshire, Rod MacDonald, Mary Mann, George Davis, Janice Aegerter, Hugh Howard, Genie Booth, Chloe Phillips, Jon Crawford, Jay Praythe r, Greta Van Evera, Bob McInerny, Norman Huff, Ed Chew and Frances Schutt appreciated their efforts to the "fullest."

Coronado Youth Club, scene of many teen-age activities in the island city, was the setting for another Saturday night. Students danced to the music of a fine band. The clubhouse was beautifully decorated and very crowded, testifying to its popularity as a gathering place.

The "Casualiers," organized for the entertainment of Coronado High School students, hosted the affair. C. L. Broadwater, Youth Club director and sponsor of the organization, stated that in the coming year many more events have been planned for members and guests.

Islanders Hold Beach Party

Warm-blooded Coronadoans went beachcomber the other night. Students and alums gathered on the beach and barbecued hotdogs and marshmallows to the strains of ukelele music.

The "foolhardy few" were Mickey Compton, Linn Richards, Norman Huff, Joan Compton, Dave Murphy, Carlene Allen, Bob Moore, Kathy Spence, Bobbie Chrivia and Marcia Jacobs.

(Editor's note: No one went near the water!)

Girls' gym classes have undergone a drastic change since the recent tumbling exhibition by State College. Girls who used to think hockey even at 1st period gym class, was fun, have decided to switch to tumbling.

But those backbreaking tumbles, forward rolls, tripods, headstands seal walks and frog stands . . . well, at least it's warm inside.

Football Prom December 17

By BARBARA ALLEN
(Student Writer)

The Circus Room of the Hotel del Coronado will be the scene of much gaiety and laughter when the Boys Federation of Coronado high school presents its first annual Football Prom December 17.

Heretofore the post-football celebration was called the "Metro Prom" and was given for all the schools in the Metropolitan League, of which Coronado was one. This year, however, the school having switched to another league, the prom takes on a new name and is for Coronado high school students and their guests only.

The dance will officially begin at 8:30 with a grand march led by the co-captains of this season's football team, Bob McInerney and Ronald Dong, with their dates.

A highlight of the evening will be the awarding of the football trophy to the Avocado League Bee champions of Coronado high school.

The homecoming court, consisting of Gretta Van Evera, queen, and Dartha Brokenshire, Diane Dally, Betsy Lahmann and Marjie McKechnie, attendants, will also be honored.

Tree Will Feature Christmas Music at High School

A program of free Christmas music featuring a singing Christmas tree will be presented by the band, orchestra, Girls Glee Club and a Cappella Choir of Coronado high school Tuesday, December 14, at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium. The public is invited.

The singing Christmas tree is composed of the 50 singers of the a Cappella Choir on an eight-level formation in the shape of a Christmas tree.

This year for the first time the tree will be lighted by glowing decorations and electric candles. The ceremony of lighting will be danced by Cathy Lewis. Music featured by this group will be the folk-tune, "The Twelve Days of Christmas," and Waring's arrangement of "'Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The Girls Glee Club will combine with the choir for a group of numbers and the band and orchestra will play appropriate tunes.

The directors of the choir and glee club is Mrs. Elizabeth Huser and the band and orchestra are directed by Paul L. Henneberg.

School Doings Launch Vacation

Coronado High celebrated the beginning of the holidays with no homework. The French Club sponsored a huge potluck luncheon with members supplying solid food and goodies.

Later a Christmas assembly, featuring the a cappella choir, girls' chorus and band, was held in the auditorium.

Highlights of the assembly were the clever rendition of "The Night Before Christmas," led by Bobby Iwashita and the "rend"-ition of "Shake, Rattle and Roll," (original words by Sidney Clark's mother) by W. C. Seaman, principal; Sidney, Jeannette Dong and Willie Dickey.

A dance by Kathy Lewis and the group singing of "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" by the student body concluded the program.

After school was dismissed, most of the girls rushed home to prepare for the first annual Football Prom, held in the Circus Room, Hotel del Coronado. Pretty Greta Van Evera, homecoming queen, and her court, led the grand march.

Holly hop, taco twirl for high school holidays

By GAYLE LELAND

The Coronado high school French Club is starting off the Christmas holidays with their annual "Holly Hop" December 20.

The dance will be from 8 to midnight down at the Coronado Yacht Club and refreshments will be served by French Club members.

The dance is dressy-sport and it is a turnabout-turnabout dance with bids now on sale for 75 cents. Bids will not be sold at the door, so it is requested that the boys buy the bids sometime before the evening of the 20th.

"The bids are made of paper trimmed with sparkle to represent Christmas tree balls, and a Christmas tree will be the center of the decorations," announced Peggy Moser, French Club president.

The dance originally started during the holidays to give the returning alumni something to do while they were home. Alumni and anyone else interested may attend; they do not necessarily have to be members of the French Club. However, no stags will be allowed at the dance.

Gifts for all! That is there will be gifts for all who can grab them, when someone breaks the brightly decorated pinata Saturday night at the "Taco Whirl."

The dance is sponsored by the Coronado high school Spanish Club and is to be held in the social room of the Coronado high school gymnasium. It is an annual event put on by the Spanish Club to celebrate Christmas.

Tacos will be prepared by the Mexican Village. A committee of Spanish Club members have volunteered to sell them at the dance.

It is a turnabout-turnabout dance (boys ask girls, or girls ask boys, but the boys have to pay). Admission will be 25 cents stag and 35 cents drag.

Decorations in the social room will be traditionally Spanish. The pinata will be hung in the center of the room. Each person will be given a baseball bat with which to swing at the pinata in an attempt to break it. Someone will pull the pinata up and down on a pulley to make it difficult to hit.

"We also have entertainment planned for the evening which will really be great. Be sure and come," said Barbara Allen, Spanish Club president.

Coronado, Mar Vista Highs Begin Year With Full Schedules

Margie McKechnie started the New Year right with a party Saturday night at her North Island home. Guests (all dolled up in Christmas presents) entertained themselves by dancing. Bill Townsend's unique method of enjoying himself involved whipping cream in the kitchen. Cliff Atkinson took flash pictures of the merriment.

Members of Coronado Ice Skating Club (a branch of that crazy French Club) enjoyed an evening of . . . ice skating (imagine that) during the holiday. The group took a chartered bus with D. R. Michaels, club sponsor.

New Correspondent

Barbara Allen, junior, has been chosen a teen-age correspondent by the Women's Home Companion. Barbara is one of the 25 girls contributing teen-age news to the magazine. Her first assignment is to describe holiday parties on the island.

Barbara is active in Senior Tri-Hi Y, French Club, Cinco Centavos Mas, Forum Club, Booster Club, Junior Red Cross, Quill and Scroll, CSF. She is president of the Spanish Club, secretary of County Hi-Y, junior class Cabinet member and is on the staff of the Islander.

Honor Paid

Girl and Boy of the Month for December have been chosen at Coronado Hi. Beverly Kracht, student body treasurer, was picked for her work as welfare committee chairman in charge of Senior Tri-Hi Y's clothing drive and her work of selling tickets at all football dances.

Bobby Iwashita, ASB president was selected for the manner in which he carries out his duties. He is also on the executive committee.

Casualiers elect for 6 months

The Casualier Club, sponsored by the Coronado recreation department, has elected a new slate of officers for the spring semester.

Sidney Clark was elected president; Philip Mendelkorn, first vice president; Susan Johnson, second vice president; Peggy Moser, secretary, and Barbara Allen, treaurer. They will take office January 1 and serve until June 30, 1955. The retiring officers of the Casualiers are Mike Hartman, president; Walter Heinecke, first vice president; Barbara Allen, second vice president; Sidney Clark, secretary, and Bobby Iwashita, treasurer.

The Casualiers also voted to amend their constitution, which stipulated that all officers will be elected in January and June of each year and that all class representatives shall be elected each September and serve for the entire year.

December 21st the Casualiers will have a private skating party for the members and their guests.

Barbara Allen Panelist on Nationwide Magazine

Coronado's teenagers, their interests and problems are about to become of national interest through Barbara Allen, Coronado high school junior. Barbara was chosen one of 26 high school panelists from all over the United States for a new column, "Talk of the Teens" running in Woman's Home Companion magazine.

Barbara competed with thousands of girls from all sections of the country and her application was one of four submitted from Paul Shaler's English class at the high school. A short essay on "What I would like to appear in the Panel" was sent on the back of the application.

A Coronado native daughter, Barbara, age 16, is an A student and one of the advertising managers for the Islander, the high school newspaper. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Allen, 556 G Ave.

As one of 26 panelists, Barbara said, she will be sent an assignment every month; sometimes a reporting job about various events or fads in the school, or news of teen-agers in the community.

The magazine will pay her $10 a month and give her a subscription, Barbara said.

Islanders Begin Gay Christmas Plans

Coronado High's French Club is already planning big things for the holiday season. Its annual Christmas dance has been set for Dec. 20, and will be held at Coronado Yacht Club.

Peggy Moser, president, promises delicious food and smooth music. The dressy sport affair will be "turnabout-turnabout," or, boys ask girls and vice-versa.

Jim Coley is in charge of refreshments and Dick Owen is planning decorations. Bids are being made by Marilyn Gerson and Leona Huffman.

'Big Feed'

French Club also plans a "Big Feed," to take place Dec. 17, at noon, in the French Room.

The Camp Marston training session recently was attended by eight Coronado girls. Representing Senior Tri-Hi Y were Marilyn Gerson, Linda Sanford, Becky Dobbins, Gayle Leland, Pat Isely, Dartha Brokenshire, Sally Jones and Barbara Allen, secretary of the Y Council.

The girls enjoyed hiking, volley-ball, ping-pong and a dance. The dance was quite a success, from the girls' point of view anyway, and no one sat out any dances! Fourteen girls and 51 boys! Before the dance, old-time movies were shown.

Discussion Groups

Oh yes, there were discussion groups, too. Members talked about "What makes Good Y Clubs."

Girls' League and Boys' Federation sponsored a rally before the Coronado - Fallbrook game. After a short talk by W. C. Seaman, school principal, a skit was presented in which the boys imitated pep leaders and the girls played a football game.

Dartha Brokenshire, cheerleader, played referee while Bob MacInerny was water boy. Beth Howell gave an imitation of CHS's able bandleader.

The costumes were amusing, the boys wore bermudas (or pants cut off at the knee). Beth wore a loud red wig and bright red p e d d a l pushers topped with a purple shirt!

'Ditch Day' for Coronado Seniors

One day recently, Island juniors and sophomores came to school and found . . . no seniors. The annual "Ditch Day" was in progress, far away on a snow-covered mountain.

Everyone enjoyed "Ditch Day" —the sophomores, who found out how it feels not to be "low man," juniors, who now know how it feels to be "top dog," and seniors, all except Bonnie McCornock, who found out how it feels to hit a tree . . . head on.

Sidney Clark, president, has this to say of the Casualier Dance to be held Saturday night in the Youth Club, "The main objective of the dance is to renew Casualier memberships for the coming year." Future plans include beach and skating parties, picnics, hayrides and lots of dances.

Active Islanders Busy Again

Thirteen members of Coronado High's journalism class are applying for membership in Quill and Scroll, international honor society for journalism students. This organization is limited to upper classmen in the upper third of the class, whose writings have appeared in some school publication.

Those applying are Sally Johnson, editor-in-chief of the "Islander"; Marilyn Gerson, news editor; Genie Booth, editorial editor; Edith K u r t z, feature editor; Dick Stanford, sports editor.

Future Reporters

Also applying are reporters, Linda Davis, Marilyn Lamberton, Bill Ryan, Steve Jordan, Oscar Warner, Gayle Leland, Barbara Allen and M a r c i a Welch.

If accepted, applicants receive pins and are entered in the organization's permanent records.

Sally Sears was elected president of Spotlighters, Coronado High drama club, last Wednesday night. Other officers are M a r i l y n Lamberton, vice president; Linda Sanford, secretary and Madelyn James, treasurer.

Elections Held

Elections were held before a rehearsal of the all-school play, "Stage Door," which will be presented Dec. 10 and 11 in the school auditorium.

Joan Moss, senior, is the new president of Junior R e d Cross. Other officers are Sherry Scott, vice president, and Ma d e l y n James, secretary-treasurer. W. C. S e a m a n, school principal, sponsors the group.

Plans were discussed for bringing Red Cross activities into the whole school and it was decided that the club would wrap Christmas parcels at North Island on Dec. 4, 11 and 18.

Islanders Take Trip To Local Snowplaces

Coronado's French Club took a long-planned-for snow trip last weekend. The group chartered four buses and left school at 7 a.m. D. R. Michaels was in charge and chaperones included teachers and parents. Jim Coley, school treasurer, collected fares.

On arrival at Laguna, high-spirited islanders began pelting each other with snow, sledding (one ingenious student took a dishpan) and skiing while Mr. Michaels took pictures for the year book.

Huge Success

The day was a huge success according to Peggy Moser, club president, in spite of a few mishaps. One bus broke down. Pat Schroeder, senior, sprained her ankle and Linda Waldie bumped her head on a tree in the way of her sled.

After licking Vista Panthers in the first Avocado League basketball game of the season, the junior class presented the "Basketball Bounce" in the Youth Club.

Latest Records

Jon Crawford, class president, was in charge. Peggy Moser took care of the music (the latest records), Frances Schutt was publicity chairman and Barbara Allen saw to decorations. Since it is still TWIRP season, guess who paid!

The State College gym team showed simple and complex gymnastics to CHS students at an assembly in the gym recently. Fred Cash described the stunts which were performed on the rings, parallel bars and high bar.

Brave Observer

After assembly the four gymnasts invited audience participation from braver observers.

Dartha Brokenshire, senior, was chosen "Girl of the Month" at Coronado. Dartha is head cheerleader, Beachcomber editor, Girls' League veep, CSF member and GAA cabinet member.

Earl Barlow's great contribution to CHS is music. He plays piano (his favorite), string bass, violin and drums. For this, he was chosen Coronado's "Boy of the Month."

Y clubs active at high school

Coronado high's Y Clubs are keeping up the fast pace they set at the beginning of the school term. Last Saturday morning a group of Hi-Y and Senior Tri-Hi-Y members went to Camp Marston in Julian to a YMCA training camp. On the trip were Bill Kessler, Bill Townsend, Marilyn Gerson, Dartha Brokenshire, Pam Schaefer, Sue Schaefer, Sally Johnson, Sally Jones, Marilyn Lamberton, Linda Sanford, Linda Davis, Becky Dobbins, Ginger Reed, Peggy Moser, Pat Ellis, Pat Isley, Leona Huffman, Beverly Kracht and Barbara Allen.

They returned Sunday evening. "The trip was fun as well as educational and informative," said Marilyn Gerson, Tri-Hi-Y president.

Robert Baird of the Red Cross, attended the last meeting and proposed a project, which was the collection of things needed at the Naval Hospital in San Diego, such as old toys, stamps, old sheet music, aluminum foil plates for making Christmas ornaments, to be taken to the hospital around Christmas time. The girls plan to make this into an all-school activity sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y —possibly a race between classes. The club is also making scrapbooks for the Children's Hospital.

Coronado high school clubs plan an overnight snow trip to Camp Marston at Julian the coming weekend. All San Diego county Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs are eligible to attend, but reservations are necessary. Cost is $3.25, including transportation, meals, lodging and entertainment.

Hopes for winter sports are held, providing the snow remains. Other entertainment will be indoors and includes dancing and community singing.

Private cars may be taken on the trip provided they are approved by a "Y" club sponsor. Otherwise the large "Y" truck will serve as transportation, leaving the downtown "Y" at 9 Saturday morning and returning Sunday afternoon at 5. Everyone is to be sure to bring a lunch to eat on the way to the camp.

Participants will be divided into groups and will do their own cooking.

Each "Y" member may bring one guest, who must meet the approval of a "Y" club advisor or the "Y" secretary.

The Inter-Tri-Hi-Y plans an after-game dance February 11, proceeds to go into their scholarship fund. The scholarship will be awarded to a girl graduating next June.

The Coronado Senior Hi-Y is made up of junior and senior boys. Norman Silverman is president.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y consists of junior and senior girls. Marilyn Gerson is president.

Membership in the Inter-Tri-Hi-Y is limited to freshman and sophomore girls. Susan Johnson is president.

The Inter-Tri-Hi-Y will take in new freshman members soon.

Linda Waldie, Pat Schroeder Injured on First Toboggan Ride

Linda Waldie and Pat Schroeder are not as enthusiastic about going up to the snow as they were.

Both girls were painfully hurt on their first tobaggan ride at Laguna.

Pat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Schroeder, suffered a broken leg and Linda, daughter of the R. L. Waldies, and "Miss Coronado of 1953," suffered several broken ribs and concussion.

Both girls were severely bruised but are now recuperating nicely at home.

Cagers beat San Dieguito

By DICK STANFORD

Coach John Kovac's boom-boom boys are at it again. Kovac has again developed a basketball team that has all the makings of a championship threat in the Avocado League.

The locals are now resting at the top of the conference with the scalps of Vista and San Dieguito under their belts. And, the Wave still has that well-groomed look.

Tomorrow night (Friday) the Islanders are north-bound for a skirmish with the Pirates of Oceanside. To date the O-Men have lost to Fallbrook and Vista.

Coronado's offensive show features plenty of speed, a little team balance, and no height. Against Vista it was Roger Nix the Rebounder who led the scoring parade. Around San Dieguito time little, 5' 7" Herman Wright ripped the cords the most with 21 points in Coronado's 63-33 victory.

Tonight it could be the hustler, Jon Crawford, or Ernie-Herman's Bud-Wright, the stop and go kid, or even the good gray fox, Robin Dean, who will lead the point-picking.

Win, lose or play UCLA, the Coronadans will have to rely on only horsepower and head-power to take the Pirates for the Greenies will be "out-altituded" by 3 inches per man.

Wave faces Vista on cage court

One game cannot make a basketball season, but the opening tilt of Coronado Friday against a strong Vista team gives every cage fan the right to stand up and cheer.

Coronado high beat the Panthers soundly and convincingly by the one-sided score of 54 to 31 in the Coronado gym, and on form should do right well against the other teams of the new Avocado league.

Top scorer for the Islanders was Roger Nix with 16 points. Robin Dean was on his heels with 14 tallies; the Wright boys had 7 points each.

Others getting into the game, and scoring one or more points, except center McInerney and guard Atkinson, were Love, Crawford, Dickey and Maxey.

Top netter for the visiting Vistans was Chuck Egli, with eight tough points.

ISLANDERS TAKE LEAD IN AVOCADO

Coronado High was the Avocado League basketball leader today, the Islanders having posted their second loop win without defeat last night at the expense of San Dieguito, 64-33, in the winner's gym.

Herman Wright showed the way for Coronado with 21 points. The Islander Bees also won, 57-51. Summary:

League leading Coronado High journeys to Oceanside tonight for a game which features the only undefeated and winless teams in the Avocado League.

The other games have Fallbrook at San Dieguito and Vista at Escondido. These four teams have 1-1 records.

Coronado's Islanders, who claim victories over Vista and San Dieguito, are living up to their pre-season favorite's role.

Tonight's action gets underway at 7 with B games.

Coronado's Islanders are looking forward to a highly successful basketball season after defeating visiting Vista's Panthers, 54-31, last night in the Coronado gym.

The first half was tough. Roger Nix and Robin Dean started finding the range the last two quarters and the Islanders were off to the races.

Nix totaled 16 points and Dean 14 in the contest, which was the Avocado League opener for both schools. Chuck Egli scored eight points to pace the Panthers. Summary:

Oceanside salvaged individual scoring laurels, Bruce Hake tallying 16 points to edge Coronado's Robin Dean, who had 15.

CORONADO WINS, KEEPS CLEAN SLATE

Coronado's Islanders completed the first half of Avocado League basketball play last night with a 47-35 victory over Fallbrook's Warriors, putting them through without a loss.

Red-hot Roger Nix was Coronado's big point contributor with 18. Winston Wade hit 14 for the Warriors.

GOT SPEED, LOTS OF JUMP

Islanders Win Despite Lack Of Height

By DAVE GALLUP

The lowest is the highest in the Avocado Prep League these days and if you are confused, so are the opponents of Coronado High School's basketball team.

Of the six boys who play most for the Islanders, two are 6 feet even, two are 5-9, one is 5-7 and the other 5-11. The average is 5-10 and that is close to the floor, as basketball teams go today—even in high school.

However, John M. Kovac, the Islanders' 29-year-old coach, will tell you, with pardonable pride, that they can run and jump. They also can shoot your eyes out, and they are champions of the Avocado League, with the schedule still two games from completion.

They are undefeated in the league and their average margin of victory in eight Avocado games is 18.1 points. They are three games ahead of their closest pursuer, Escondido, which they play again tonight on the Cougars' floor. Coronado's overall record lists 16 victories against defeats by San Diego, leader of the City Prep League, 38-32, and El Centro, 46-35. The Islanders have achieved their 16 victories by an average of 20.6 points.

How do they do it? The main ingredients are speed, teamwork, balance and heart. A fifth ingredient would be —more speed.

The Islanders love to take off for the basket at full speed at every opportunity, get there first with the most and score on layups—otherwise known as pups.

Kovac, who grew up in Pennsylvania, estimates conservatively that his club has scored at least a third of its field goals on fast breaks. The Islanders have a season's shooting average of .311.

"We can shoot long if we have to," Kovac says, "but we'd rather work the ball in for a close shot and usually do."

Coronado's heavy-duty six are Ernie Wright (5-9) and Jon Crawford (5-9), forwards; Roger Nix (6-0), center; Robin Dean (5-11) and Herman Wright (5-7), guards, and Charlie Love (6-0), utility. All are juniors except Dean and Ernie Wright, who are seniors.

Coronado uses a zone defense, with the Wright brothers stationed out towards center court, in good ball stealing position. Both are lightning fast of hand and start many fast breaks with stolen balls or interceptions.

Nix is the team's rebounder in chief. A high jumper on the track squad, he gets fine elevation, and against San Dieguito, which owns a pair of 6 foot, 4 inch operators, he grabbed 25 rebounds.

Dean, an extraordinary dribbler, is the team's playmaker and is described by coach Kovac as "one of the finest all-round players in the league."

Perhaps the real key to Coronado's success is its fine scoring balance.

"There never have been two games in succession where one player was the top scorer," Kovac says.

Kovac, now in his second season at Coronado, did not play basketball in college but was a football guard at Penn State and Slippery Rock, playing two years at each place.

Last year, Kovac coached his first Coronado basketball team to third place in the Metro League, then much larger.

Coronado has a total enrollment of 384. 'I had nine kids out for varsity basketball at the start of the season," says Kovac. "After we won a few games, some more came out. I didn't cut anybody. Now we have 13."

And it's a lucky 13.

COUGARS TOP AVOCADO CHAMPIONS

Coronado's Islanders have clinched first place in the Avocado League basketball race and Escondido's Cougars can be assured of second place.

The Islanders were looking for their ninth straight victory when they invaded Escondido last night, but the Cougars set down the league leaders, 64-63.

Escondido jumped off to an 18-13 lead at the end of the first quarter and managed to hold on to the bitter end. Forward Don Willis dropped 22 points to pace the Cougar scorers. Summary:

Escondido Surprises Coronado

ESCONDIDO — Escondido last night blasted champion Coronado's hopes for a perfect Avocado Prep League basketball season, defeating the Islanders, 64-63.

Coronado had clinched the title prior to last night's game and was seeking its ninth straight Avocado victory. Escondido's Cougars, paced by 5-7 Don Willis' 22-point performance, amassed a 34-25 lead in the first half and was not headed thereafter.

Coronado's fast-breaking Islanders closed the difference to one point, 59-58, in the last quarter but the Cougars, tiring fast, struggled desperately to pull away again. Escondido used only five players for the entire game.

Escondido erected its widest lead early in the last quarter, 54-41, then saw an Islander rally all but tie the score.

Title Bagged By Islanders

Coronado's Islanders today have their Avocado League basketball championship safely tucked away and are awaiting the SCIF playoffs. They ended their league season last night on a happy note by shellacking the Fallbrook Warriors, 59-14, on the Coronado court.

The Islanders took over the lead from the start and by halftime had built up a 26-9 advantage. Fallbrook, in an effort to keep down the score, went into a freeze at the start of the fourth quarter. In fact it got so cold that the Warriors didn't score a point that final period while the Islanders were adding 10 more to their already large total.

Ernie Wright dunked 16 points, Charles Love 15 and Roger Nix 14 in leading Coronado's champions. Summary:

Cagers close title year with a win

By SHERMAN MANCHESTER

Coronado high school's Avocado League champions rolled over Fallbrook 59-14 in the Islander gym last Friday night to close their league schedule with eight wins to one loss.

The Greenies had it from the first, holding the Warriors to 2 and 7 points in the first and second quarters while they collected 10 and 16.

The Wright brothers, Herman and Ernie, had the Fallbrook five completely befuddled by continuously stealing the ball and intercepting passes.

At the start of the fourth quarter the Warriors confused everybody by freezing the ball, although trailing 49-14.

The Islanders turned the tables, however, scoring 10 points while Fallbrook didn't tally.

Ernie Wright was high point man for Coronado with 16 points. Bill Wade was the Warriors' big gun with six.

among all members of the team.

Both the varsity and the Bees play a fast-break game, although the varsity can execute it more smoothly and more often. Ernie Wright, Jon Crawford and Herman Wright provide the speed for the fast break while Roger Nix and Robin Dean do the job of starting it.

Boys out for the varsity this year are Robin Dean, Jon Crawford, Ernie Wright, Roger Nix, Charlie Love, Cliff Atkinson, Bob McInerney, Jim Coley, Ed Barbour, Richard Maxey, Jerry Simmons and Norman Silverman. Boys out for the Jay Vee team are John Drehner, Steve Solier, Phil Torey, Ron Rumney, Ashton Shaw, Richard Garness, Bob Mathews, Bill Jenks, Joe Wesson, Dennis Grimaud, George Stephens and John Halligan.

Coach Bailey's B team has been doing a good job and is now tied for first place with Escondido with a 7-1 Avocado League record. Their only loss was to Escondido on the Coronado court in which the Cougars eked out a 56-54 victory in the final seconds of the game. John Drehner is leading the team in scoring with 109 points for eight league games, while Steve Solier is close behind with 107 points in the same number of games.

Mentor Kovac, the winning coach, comes from Pennsylvania, where he played football in college but never played basketball. This is his second year as basketball coach at Coronado. In this time he has coached a third place and a championship team. Some of his success could be due to the fact that he is very strict on the subject of training rules. Kovac also coaches the backfield of the Islander football squad.

As of last Friday when the Greenies beat Oceanside 69-45, Coronado high cinched the basketball championship of the Avocado League. It is mathematically impossible for the Islanders to drop out of first place.

The boys won every game.

The Islanders haven't beaten any team by a fantastic score, but there was always a sound margin. The scores and league standings are as follows: Coronado 54, Vista 31; Coronado 64, San Dieguito 33; Coronado 55, Oceanside 42; Coronado 56, Escondido 47; Coronado 47, Fallbrook 35; Coronado 57, Vista 52; Coronado 51, San Dieguito 25; Coronado 69, Oceanside 45.

Coronado high school's Islanders saw their hopes for an undefeated season go by the boards last Tuesday as Escondido's Cougars managed to hold on to a 64-63 victory at Escondido.

Stellar performances by the local's Robin Dean, who scored 18 points; Herman Wright, 16 points, and Roger Nix, 12 points, could not offset Escondido's brilliant display of set-shooting capped by Don Willis' 22 points.

League standings:

Coronado	8	1
Escondido	6	3
San Dieguito	6	3
Oceanside	3	6
Vista	4	5
Fallbrook	1	8

High point man to date is Roger Nix with 111; Robin Dean is second with 109. Altogether, the team has a better record than last year as the scoring is spread out

3 Islanders On All-Stars

Coronado's Islanders dominated the All-Avocado League basketball team announced yesterday by the Breitbard Athletic Foundation.

Forward Robin Dean, center Roger Nix and guard Herman Wright won first-team berths, with Dean a unanimous choice of league coaches for the "Player-of-the-Year" award.

Other first-team spots went to forward Don Willis and guard Ken Cook of the second-place-finishing Escondido Cougars.

Named to the second team were forwards Jim Chappell, Vista, and Vernon Johnson, San Dieguito; center Norman Wunderlee, San Dieguito; guards Bruce Hake, Oceanside, and Bill Steward, Escondido.

Kiwanis will honor cage team tonight

Members of Coronado high school's league champion basketball teams, both varsity and "B," will be presented gold basketballs tonight by the Coronado Kiwanis Club at a dinner honoring the teams at La Avenida.

Coach John Kovac and his Varsity squad and Coach Roger Bailey and the "B" team will attend the dinner. Frank Ahrens is the Kiwanis chairman.

The service club, which sponsors the Coronado high school basketball team in a San Diego County tournament each spring, plans to make this dinner an annual affair, said George Stanford, president.

Cagers win first game of playoffs

Coronado high school's basketball team, champs of the Avocado League, rolled over San Jacinto, 43-38, in the first round of the Southern California Interscholastic Federation playoffs Tuesday night.

The short San Jacinto court hampered the Islanders' slambang fast break offense, but Robin Dean's 16 point set-shooting performance provided the winning margin.

The isle-men started slowly, built a 9-point lead in the third quarter, saw it dwindle to 3 points in the final period, but pulled away in the closing minutes to preserve the victory. Herman Wright's two free throws with 45 seconds remaining cinched the win.

Cage title team here tomorrow

Coronado's Avocado League championship basketball team will play at the Coronado gym tomorrow (Friday) night at 7.

Their opponents will be Punte high school, winners Tuesday night of a tri-county playoff.

Friday's game will be the second round of the California Interscholastic Federation's southern section tourney. The Coronado team defeated San Jacinto high Tuesday night in the first round, thereby moving up to the second bracket. Story of the San Jacinto game is on Page 1.

Coronado Qualifies To Play Grossmont

By MEL ZIKES

Coronado's Islanders and Grossmont's Foothillers will square off in Tuesday's SCIF Southern Group basketball semi-finals. Last night the Islanders played inspired ball to win over Puente, 53-43, at Coronado.

There aren't enough adjectives left in Texas to describe the way Puente's Warriors and the Islanders went at each other for the first three quarters.

The score was tied 10 times and the lead switched on seven occasions during the first three stanzas.

Press Finishes Puente

Coronado Coach John Kovac found the answer at that time —the Warriors were papooses in the middle of the court. So, Kovac threw his Islanders into a full-court press that soon had the visitors talking to themselves.

Puente managed to mark only four points in the last quarter, which started with the score deadlocked at 39-39. Coronado poured in 14 points, eight by Roger Nix, to win in a breeze.

Gene Smith, an All-Tri-County selection at center for the Warriors, was the big reason Puente was trailing by only two points, 29-27, at halftime. The burly pivotman chalked up 17 points in the first half. Smith added seven points in the last half for a total of 24 and highpoint honors.

Wright Leads Islanders

Hustlin' Herman Wright was tall for the Islanders. He was the lad who made the points when Coronado was forced to come from behind to tie the score. Wright ended the game with 19 points, high for Coronado.

Nix and Bob Dean were the only other players scoring in two digits with 14 and 11 points, respectively. The Islanders profited from the free-throw line as they canned 15 of 25 to only five of 13 by Puente.

Looks Like Toughie

Tuesday's affair between Grossmont and the Islanders shapes up as topflight competition. Grossmont defeated Puente in the Chino Tournament by the same margin as the Islanders last night—10 points. Summary:

Coronadoans Dump San Jacinto, 43 to 38

SAN JACINTO — Coronado High, San Diego Metro League champion, downed San Jacinto, Riverside League runner-up, 43-38, in a SCIF Southern Group basketball playoff game here last night.

Coronado led, 23-19, at the half.

San Jacinto's Jim Quast was high point man with 20. Robert Dean tallied 16 to lead the winners.

Coronado's rampaging Islanders out-hustled mighty Grossmont by a slim 2 points, 59-57, on the Islander court Tuesday night in a wild fracas that saw the lead change hands 25 times and the score evened up on 8 different occasions. The victory gave the locals a coveted berth in the Southern California Interscholastic Federation finals.

The Islanders will play Citrus, Tri-County Prep League champions, Friday in the Southern California finals for the small schools championship.

Led by stellar guard Robin Dean, who canned 18 points to top all scorers, Coronado hit a fabulous 54 per cent of all field goal attempts. Charlie Love filled in for the injured Jon Crawford and potted 15 points.

The two teams matched point for point until the last minutes of the fourth quarter, when the local quintet, led by Dean and Love, surged to a 57-51 lead with a minute and 35 seconds remaining, and then held down a determined Grossmont rally.

Coach John Kovac's boys got into the semifinals by trouncing a dead-eye Puente quintet in the quarter-finals last Friday. The score was 53-43, Coronado pulling away in the final quarter after trailing most of the first half, and ending the third quarter all tied up. Puente center Gene Smith tallied a handsome 22 points to lead both squads.

Coronado Wins Cage Thriller

By MEL ZIKES

Coronado's hustlin' Islanders have a Friday date with Citrus High, of Azusa, in the SCIF Southern Group basketball playoff finals and if they play as they did in disposing of Grossmont, 59-57, in last night's semi-finals it is hard to see how they could miss the title.

Both Grossmont and Coronado turned in beautiful efforts. Grossmont hasn't the least thing to be ashamed of in losing, and they haven't any thing to blame for losing either.

Coronado took over the initial lead on a free throw by forward Robin Dean and the next 32 minutes saw the score tied nine times and the lead change hands on 26 different occasions.

With 30 seconds gone in the third quarter the two teams, playing before an overflow crowd of 697 in the Coronado gym, started one of the greatest see-saw demonstrations witnessed on a Southland court in many a moon.

First Grossmont and then Coronado led in that torrid drive, neither ever by over one point. It all started with Grossmont taking over the lead at 32-31, then Coronado went head, 33-32, then Grossmont, then Coronado, etc., etc., until only 3:25 was left in the final stanza and Coronado had the lead for keeps.

Dean turned in a sensational performance in leading the Islanders. Not only was he the game's leading scorer with 18 points, but his handling of the ball on key plays and his generalship kept the packed house screaming.

Both teams set terrific paces, employing a full court press on offense and collapsing defenses to cover the inside men.

Center Lowell Raper and guards Don Cole and Les Hall did themselves proud for Grossmont, but only Cole was around at the finish. Raper went out on fouls with 3:20 left and Hall ran out of gas shortly after. Cole and dependable Leon Nelson were the only Grossmont regulars in the lineup when the final gun sounded.

The site of the Citrus-Coronado game should be decided today, probably by the flip of a coin as both teams played away in their playoff openers and have been at home the last two games.

This is the first time that Coronado has gone this far in basketball playoff action in the past 30 years. Summary:

POINTER GYM TITLE SCENE

Coronado High Islanders and the Citrus High Cougars will play their SCIF Southern Group basketball championship game tomorrow night at 8 in the Point Loma High gym.

Principal W. C. Seaman, of Coronado, won the coin toss between officials of the two schools this morning and chose the Point Loma court.

Citrus, co-champion of the Tri-County League, disposed of Army and Navy Academy, Garden Grove and Mar Vista in moving into the finals. The Avocado League champion Islanders dispatched San Jacinto, Puente and Grossmont in gaining their finals berth.

FIRST TITLE BID

Coronado, Citrus Clash in Finals

By MEL ZIKES

Coronado High's Islanders will be shooting for their first SCIF Southern Group basketball championship tonight as they engage the Citrus High Cougars at 8 on the neutral Point Loma High court.

The hustlin' Islanders will be forced to pour on the coal if they hope to dispose of Citrus. They outran both Puente and Grossmont to win in the waning moments, but tonight they will be up against another small, fast quintet which also is used to running the full 32 minutes.

Citrus coach Ed Smyth, a San Diego State grad in the middle thirties, is very high on his scrappy Cougars and calls them the best team he's coached at the Azusa school. He has been coaching there since 1937.

Neither team is unfamiliar with the winner's column. Coronado has a 21-3 record and Citrus has 22-8. Both figures include their three SCIF playoff victories. Each school completed its regular league season with a 9-1 mark.

Little Jim Gates, a 5-foot-8 forward, was the Cougars' leading scorer this season. Gates averaged 19 points a game during league play and in the three playoff games his average figures out to 24 per tilt.

Citrus appears to be a power off its showings in gaining the finals. The Cougars won all three, against Army and Navy Academy, Garden Grove and Mar Vista, in a virtual breeze. They topped the Academy quintet by 33 points, Garden Grove by 42 and Mar Vista by 20.

Gaining the finals wasn't easy for the John Kovac-coached Islanders. They toppled San Jacinto, 43-38; Puente, 53-43 and Grossmont, 59-57. However, if the Cougars do take a lead it won't shake the Islanders, for they have come from behind to beat all three playoff foes.

Kovac probably will start forwards Charlie Love (5-11) and Ernie Wright (5-8), center Roger Nix (6-1), and guards Herman Wright (5-7) and Robin Dean (6). Forward Jon Crawford, who was injured in the Puente game, may limp into the game if his ankle has gained strength.

Cougars Outrace Islanders, 63-58

By MEL ZIKES

Coronado High's Islanders still are without an SCIF basketball championship today but don't try to convince their home folks they don't rate the honor. In bowing to a powerhouse Citrus quintet, 63-58, last night in the Southern Group finals in the Point Loma gym, the Green Wave made a gallant stand before running afoul of a last-quarter Cougar surge.

It was a case of a couple of racehorse teams trying to outrun the other and it was good, hot and close basketball until three minutes were gone in the fourth quarter.

At that juncture, the tempo quickened and the visitors, defensively more rugged and with a definite rebounding edge, took command.

Score Tied 11 Times.

Until that point, the Green Wave matched the Cougars almost bucket for bucket in a struggle which saw the score tied 11 times and the lead change hands on a like number of occasions.

Coronado took a brief lead at the start, but midway of the initial stanza was behind by six points. Two field goals by Roger Nix and free throws by Ernie Wright and Charlie Love pulled the Islanders into a 10-10 tie at the end of the period.

The pattern was much the same in the second with Coronado leaving at recess with a 29-27 edge.

Gates Take Command

The game Islanders were forced to come from behind three times to hold their advantage at 49-46 as the last period get under way. Citrus stormed back on the shooting of Jim Gates to assume command and maintain control to the final gun.

Gates, 5-foot, 8-inch speedster, was the lad who killed Coronado's championship hopes. Potting 'em long and short, the little crew-cut forward popped in 23 points to deadlock Nix for scoring honors.

While Nix' effort only served to keep the Islanders in the game, Gates' shooting, combined with a 16-point outburst by guard Bill Kilmer and an 11-point spree by guard Art Briones, gave Citrus the game.

Guard Ernie Wright bucketed 13 points and forward Robin Dean 10 to follow Nix in the Coronado scoring column. The Cougars had a decided edge from the free-throw line as they dunked 13 of 16 charity tosses while the Islanders were hitting 14 of 24.

Fist Fights Follow

While the action in the final minutes was hot and heavy, things were even tougher after the game as fist fights broke out among spectators both in the gym and parking areas. After the first series of fights, the local police showed up. After they left, fists started flying again. Again three squad cars answered the riot call and that time they caught two of the kids in action. Summary:

Coronado students who previously viewed home basketball games seated on the floor will get a "lift" soon. Three sections of bleachers, each with four tiers, have been ordered for the gym and will be placed under the stationary upstairs seats. Sorry, gals, no more laps full of basketball players!

The pain was terrible and moans of vaccinated Islanders could be heard for blocks last week. The hardend faculty was unimpressed and continued handing out assignments.

Students admitted (secretly, of course) that it really didn't hurt . . . much, but kept up the big act for the benefit of the teachers.

Islander Rally Tips Grossmont Quintet, 46-37

Coronado High applied a pressing zone defense in the second half to score a 46-37 upset over Grossmont High yesterday on the Coronado court.

Jon Crawford, who bucketed 17 points, paced the Islander victory. Robin Dean added 10 points while John Hall tanked 10 for the losers.

Coronado, a fast but short team, trailed Grossmont throughout the first half with the exception of a 17-16 edge near intermission. The Foothillers jumped into an early 10-4 lead before Coronado began hitting.

Dean bucketed four straight layups as the third period began and Coronado shot into a 29-24 lead it never relinquished.

The triumph gave the Islanders a 6-2 season record.

Coronado Cagers Favored in Kiwanis Tourney

By DICK STANFORD

Riding high on the crest of four wins and only one defeat, the Coronado Islanders tonight (Thursday) go in the first round of the eighth annual Kiwanis Prep basketball tournament.

As defending Small Division champions, and because of the way the Wave has man-handled its opposition, the "favorites" role is Coronado's. This is a reserved pick, though, because the locals lack height. Coach John Kovac's one tall boy, 6' 4" Bob McInerney, is out nursing a sprained ankle.

The team, more or less sponsored by the Coronado Kiwanis Club, will have a lightning quick, fast-breaking squad to make up for low altitudes.

The "Old Fox" Robin Dean, who scored 28 points against Lincoln last Tuesday night, will be there to play his always brilliant ball game.

The low-flying Wrights, Herman and Ernie, Jon Crawford, and Roger Nix will round out the starting team. The starters will be backed by Willie Dickey, Charlie Love, Richard Maxey and Norman Silverman.

Hart, Vista, Mission Bay Gain Limited Semi-Finals

By MEL ZIKES

A new limited division champion is assured in the eighth annual Kiwanis Basketball tournament, which goes through its semi-finals action tonight, after defending champion Coronado was upset last night.

Central High, of El Centro, came from behind at halftime to upset Coronado, 46-35. Mar Vista, last year's second-place finisher, was knocked out of the running by Hart, 49-40.

Coronado Talent Show Called Big Success

Taking the place this year of the annual Hi-Jinx at Coronado, was an entertaining talent show held in the auditorium. Emceed by Norman Silverman, highlights of the show were The Collis Sisters, Sidney Clark's violin rhapsody, a comedy dance routine titled "The Itch," by Willie Dickey, and the acrobatic dancing of Linda Nelson.

Other acts were Dan Clifford and "Jerry Jerkmire," his dummy; the "We May Not be Good, But We're Loud Boys Quintet," composed of Walt Heineke, Hugh Howard, George Davis, Rod McDonald, and Norman Silverman, and Virginia Ah You's act.

Peggy Moser sang, accompanied by Evelyn Estes and the "We May Not etc. Boy's Quintet." Earleen Huffman did a baton routine and Maria Callison, a Spanish dance. The "Four Roses" quartet, Linda Davis, Linda Sanford, Margie McKechnie, and Marty Funke, concluded the program.

Many Islanders helped Shirley Alcantara celebrate her 16th birthday with a "pedal pusher party" at the Coronado Youth Camp on the strand. The club was decorated in pink and black and guests ate barbecued hamburgers, salad and birthday cake.

Leona Huffman's was the meeting place for the joint gathering of CHS Tri-Hi-Y and Rolando Hi-Y. The girls supplied refreshments and boys brought soft drinks. Present were Marilyn Gerson, Peggy Moser, Pat Ellis, Sue Schaefer, Linda Davis, and Karen Kahl.

Others were Penny Dewar, Linda Sanford, Marilyn Lamberton, Beverly Kracht, Barbara Allen, Janice Aegerter, Gayle Leland, and Leona Huffman.

Among Rolando boys who attended were Tom Mullen, Dave Olson, Ernie Miller, Jim Renner, Bob Fournier, Nealy Westenburger, Warren Herman, John Herman, Phil Riddle, Ronnie Richardson, Bob Hawkinson, and Don Rettig.

Islanders Announce Hi-Jinx Show Plans

"You Are There" is the title of Coronado's annual Hi-Jinx Variety Show to be presented March 11 and 12 in the school auditorium. The executive committee, sponsor of the show, has begun plans for skits to be presented by school clubs and individual acts.

Robert Sanders, director, set Feb. 7 as tryout date. Penny Dewar is chairman, assisted by Sally Johnson, tickets; Hugh Howard, publicity, and Karen Kahl, programs. Prizes will be awarded for the best skits.

The Spanish Club at Coronado plans a snow trip to Laguna. When weather conditions and school plans coincide, this active club will "take to the hills," according to Barbara Allen, president.

Students of Tijuana High School have been invited to tour Coronado High in the near future. After seeing the school, they will attend an assembly planned by the Spanish Club. Girl members will prepare refreshments for the visitors.

High school views on the tunnel

The recently circulated petition for a Coronado-San Diego tube has again brought up pro and con arguments on the subject. Here are a few representative answers taken in an unofficial poll at Coronado high school to the question, "What is your opinion of the proposed tube between Coronado and San Diego? Would you vote for or against it?"

Jerry Roberts: "I work in San Diego every Saturday and it costs time and money to use the ferry. I would vote for the tube."

Sally Johnson: "I definitely think a tube would take a lot of the characteristic grace, charm and 'personality' from Coronado. I wouldn't vote for it."

Craig Jennings: "It's cheaper in the long run to keep the ferries. If an accident occurred in the tube it would hold traffic up, too. I wouldn't vote for it."

Barbara Allen: "Americans have a name for always being in a hurry. This proves it! If a tube is put in the landowners of Coronado will be paying for it a long time after the people who voted for it have moved. Also, 150 ferry employes would be out of work. I'd vote against it."

Pat Ellis: "I think it would be wonderful to have a tube. Coronado is going backward instead of forward. I'd definitely vote for it."

Chiefie Ward: "I think the ferries are obsolete. Their only usefulness is novelty to the San Diego area. But they are not important enough to stand in the way of progress; progress, of course, being the tube."

Sue Badger: "I guess I'm against it. I think too many people would come to Coronado and to the beaches and make it too commercialized. No, I wouldn't vote for it."

Dick Stanford: "It would be the most constructive thing done for Coronado since the days of Tent City. I'm definitely for it."

Nicky Sauer: "I think I'd be for it because it would be easier to get to San Diego and would give us more access. Yes, I'd vote for it."

Bobby Iwashita: "I think it's a good deal to have a tube because you wouldn't have to wait for a ferry. But the ferry is a good tourist attraction and a tube might make too much traffic. I think I'd vote against it."

Daline Gierke: "I want it because it would be easier to go to San Diego. I'd vote for it."

Linda Sanford: "I'm against it. It would hurt Coronado's trade because merchants would lose a lot of business to San Diego."

Coronado High Adopts New Constitution

A new commission constitution has been adopted by the Coronado High student body. The commission type student government is used by most other high schools as opposed to Coronado's former four officer type. Officials in the new government are eight commissioners in charge of various affairs and activities, and a president.

Main advantage of the new constitution is that more students are able to participate in activites, spreading out responsibilities.

Election Set

Election of commissioners will be held in May and the constitution goes into effect next fall.

Pat Ellis' home was the recent scene of a joint meeting of Senior Tri-Hi-Y and Marston Hi-Y.

Gals supplying the brownies were Marilyn Gerson, Linda Sanford, Linda Davis, Beverly Kracht, Marilyn Lamberton, Sidney Clark, Judy Kahl, and Barbara Allen.

Islanders Active In Many Events

Green-clad Coronado teens trooped into the school auditorium for the St. Pat's Day assembly last week and were shown a movie, "Sitting Pretty," and the most Irish thing about it was Maureen O'Hara.

Pat Ellis secured the movie and Karen Kahl made the shamrock tickets. Ticket sellers besides Pat and Karen were Peggy Moser, and Marilyn Gerson, president of Tri-Hi-Y, which sponsored the movie.

Proceeds went to the Senior Tri-Hi-Y service project.

They are Dartha Brokenshire, Penny Dewar, Grètta Van Evera, Janice Aegerter, Sidney Clark, Diane Dally, Shirley Alcantara, Betsey Lahmann, and Margie McKechnie.

Formtl Party

Twelve CHS girls were hostesses to 250 guests and classmates at a formal party recently. The affair was held at Erdman Beach Clubhouse on the Naval Air Station and carried out a circus theme.

Cake and punch were served and music was by the Guy Williams quartet. Parents of the girls were chaperons and helped receive guests. Each hostess wore a white carnation wristlet.

Hostesses Named

Hostesses were Janice Aegerter, Barbara Allen, Doris Boyle, Marcia Cady, Sidney Clark, Pat Ellis, Judy Fox, Terry Hatley, Edith Kurtz, Gayle Leland, Peggy Moser, and Frances Schutt.

Becky Dobbins, who will soon leave for Guantanamo, Cuba, was guest of honor at a bon voyage party at the Naval Air Station on "steak night." The girls barbecued their own meat and ate buffet style.

At the party were Linda Sanford, Pam Prather, Rosalee Reed, Linda Davis, Marilyn Lamberton, Diane Dally, Chloe Phillips, Genie Booth, and Frances Schutt.

Islanders Enjoy Fun-Filled Activities

Coronado's citizens received a slight shock one recent morning when Coronado High students casually entered school in their craziest pajama tops. Bermuda shorts and pedal pushers were allowed on Pajama Top Day, and the island was quite a sight.

Juniors and seniors battled at lunch period for possession of the "senior bowl." Weapons were water pistols and lawn sprinklers and some duelers emerged quite all wet! It was not reported who won.

Whether hotdogs, hamburgers or top sirloins were provided, French Club members (nearly the entire student body) enjoyed the annual "steak feed" at the beach.

Fires lined the sand and, after the main meal was finished, songs were rendered to the accompaniment of Buster Spayde's guitar and Norman Silverman's uke. No one went near the water!

12 girls entertain 250 friends

Twelve Coronado high school junior girls entertained 250 of their teenage friends at a formal dance Saturday in the Erdmann Beach Clubhouse, on the Naval Air Station.

Hostesses were Janice Aegerter, Doris Boyle, Sidney Clark, Judy Fox, Edith Kurtz, Peggy Moser, Barbara Allen, Marcia Cady, Pat Ellis, Terry Hatley, Gayle Leland and Frances Schutt.

The clubhouse, transformed into a pastel colored Big Top, was decorated with pink elephants, blue seals, green lions, yellow giraffes, lavender zebras and streamers of crepe paper forming the big top.

Parents of the hostesses, who chaperoned the affair, enjoyed the music of Guy William's quartet as much as the youngsters.

Two progressive dinners highlighted the weekend for two groups of high schoolers.

Congregating on bicycles at Norman Silverman's home were 35 members of the class of '55. The "Light Brigade" proceeded to Rod McDonald's for fruit cocktail and on to Gretta Van Evera's for a main course of ham. Things were rounded out with ice cream and all the toppings at Al Ovrum's, and then back to Gretta's for dancing.

Eleven junior gals also had a dinner via bicycles starting at Pat Ellis' home with cocktails, proceeding to Marcia Cady's for soup, on to Fran Schult's for salad, Doris Boyle's for spaghetti, and ice cream sundaes at Barbara Allen's. A slumber party followed at Terry Hatley's. Other girls attending were Judy Fox, Edith Kurtz, Janice Aegerter, Sidney Clark and Peggy Moser.

Students tour warship at sea

By PHIL ANDREEN
(Student Writer)

Ten Coronado High School boys were guests on the Destroyer Hammer last weekend and were escorted through the ship while it cruised at sea. The affair was sponsored by the Coronado Navy League.

The boys, Ronald Dong, Bill Townsend, Sherman Manchester, John Cricia, Dick Stanford, Dick Maxey, Murray Stokes, Bill Kessler, Howard Young and Charles Stewart, toured the ship from forecastle to stern.

Lunch was served, and then the boys were allowed to roam the ship at will and talk with the crew.

Coronado was one of five schools to participate.

Two-thirds Coronado high students aim for college

College applications, credits, scholarships, recommendations and interviews are the main concern of members of the Class of 1955 at Coronado high school as the final semester gets under way.

With more than two-thirds of the class aiming toward college, according to a survey just completed by Paul N. Shaler, senior counselor, the guidance department is on a tight schedule averaging more than one student or parent conference every 20 minutes.

Of the students who applied for scholarships, five who took the NROTC competitive scholarship exams have been notified they passed. These are Allen Ovrom, Dick Stanford, Walt Stewart, John Yeager and Howard Young, who will next take the physical examination.

Of the 22 seniors who plan to continue their studies in San Diego, two are bound for San Diego Woman's College, nine for San Diego State and 11 for Junior College.

Out-of-state colleges listed in the survey include Colorado, Michigan State, University of Hawaii, University of Maine, Air Force and Naval Academies, University of Texas, Smith, and Florida State.

Other June graduates look forward to continuing their studies at Stanford, USC, Claremont, Pomona, Scripps, Woodbury, Redlands, UCLA, Santa Barbara, California, Harvard, MIT, George Washington and Vandevrbilt.

Part of the counseling office services include arranging conferences with college representatives for members of the senior class. So far this year San Diego State, Occidental, Pomona, Claremont Men's College, Mills, Stephens and USC have been represented at Coronado high school, and others are expected.

At these meetings prospective collegians have an opportunity to find out about expenses, courses offered, scholarships and other matters involved in going away to school.

Coronado high school students will be aided in making future occupational choices at the first annual Careers Program, to be held May 4.

Islanders Pick Play, Boy, Girl of Month

Coronado's senior play, to be presented May 20 and 21 in the school auditorium, will be "The Curious Savage." Rehearsals are in progress under Robert Sanders, drama director, and co-student directors, Penny Dewar and Dorothy Tato.

Sally Jones will portray Mrs. Savage. Others in the cast are Rod McDonald, John Yeager, Dartha Brokenshire, Madelyn James, Norman Silverman, Bill Brow, Hugh Howard, Sally Brown, Gretta Van Evera, and Sue Shaefer.

Alternates are Pat Hollister, Penny Dewar, Bill Townsend, and Sally Brown.

April's "Boy of the Month" is Robin Dean, senior. He was chosen for his outstanding performance in basketball. Robin is on the all-SCIF team, was voted the Avocado League "Player of the Year" and is co-captain of the CHS team.

He is 5' 11", has light brown hair and brown eyes. Besides basketball, his likes include tacos, steak, red and blue, and the number seven. He dislikes test cramming and plans to attend Fullerton J.C.

Ginger Reed is "Girl of the Month." Dark-haired Ginger was picked for her untiring work in providing bus transportation to all "away" games. Ginger, a senior, came to CHS last year. She joined French Club, Boosters, Spotlighters, and is a member of Girls' League cabinet.

Ginger likes tacos, watermelon, red and blue, and people who buy yearbooks. She doesn't like liver, French, unfriendly people or those with no school spirit.

She plans to attend Mount Vernon J.C.

Senior class will present comedy, 'Curious Savage'

By SALLY BROWN
(Student Writer)

Sally Jones will play the lead in "The Curious Savage," by John Patrick, a fanciful comedy to be presented by the Coronado high school senior class May 20 and 21. Robert Sanders is drama director.

Sally will portray Mrs. Savage, who has been left ten million dollars by her husband and wants to make the best use of it. She tries to do this in spite of the efforts of her grown-up stepchildren to get their hands on the fortune.

The stepchildren send her to a sanitarium hoping to "bring her to her senses."

The production takes place in the sanitarium. Here are found humorous, but human "social misfits." The point of the play is to contrast them with Mrs. Savage's children and the "insane outside world."

Gretta Van Evera, as Fairy May, is a young member of "the Cloisters" who must continually be told she is loved.

Bill Brow, as Jeff, has lost his memory as the result of war. He had been a budding pianist. Jeff is lovingly watched over by the "Cloister" nurse, Dartha Brokenshire, who, unknown to him, is his wife!

Sally Brown, as Florence, imagines she has a 5-year-old son, who will be sent to Princeton.

Hugh Howard, as Hannibal, considers himself to be an expert violinist.

Sue Schaefer, as Mrs. Paddy, is a cynical elderly lady who hates "everything in the world," especially electricity.

Rod McDonald as Titis, John Yeager as Samuel, and Madeline James as Lily Belle, all belong to the "mean family."

Norman Silverman as the understanding doctor at the sanitarium rounds out a cast of 11.

Sanders said the cast is excellent and he thought the "Curious Savage" would be one of the most entertaining plays ever given for high school productions.

Adult tickets will be sold soon for 50 cents, and the senior class invites all Coronadans to attend.

2 Teachers retire after long service

By PAT BLAIR

After this week when the school bell rings for the last time at Coronado schools things will never be quite the same again. Benjamin D. Shoemaker (Shoey) and Harold A. Swan will not return in the fall.

The two teachers, with a combined total of more than 75 years at the school, are about the last of the old guard left, and not only will students and faculty members deeply regret their retiring, but, we venture to say, a lot of local residents also, who can well remember their school days and the classes taught by each of the men.

Tuesday afternoon the pair were honored at a special program in the high school auditorium with students, alumni, and faculty members showering farewell gifts on the two.

Shoemaker, or "Shoey" as he's fondly called by friends, is known as dean of the high school, and is also in charge of attendance besides teaching advanced geometry, second year algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry.

His reputation as one of the toughest profs in the business is known to all students but we understand former ones are constantly coming back to express their appreciation for his teaching, especially graduates of the Naval Academy who soon learn upon entering that institution what a good solid background of math can mean in their studies.

Wilfrid Seaman, high school principal, credits Shoemaker as the man who guided him into Coronado school work and says his help has been "invaluable" in the many problems arising daily. Seaman said prep school principals constantly tell him when a student comes to them from Coronado the one thing they are sure the youngsters won't have to be coached in is math.

Shoemaker came to Coronado high school in 1920 from El Cajon Valley school where he had taught five years. The late J. Leslie Cutler, then principal of El Cajon Valley, came to Coronado to take over as principal here and brought four teachers with him, Shoemaker being one.

THE SWAN, a 42 ft. rowing barge designed and built by Harold Swan and members of the shop classes at Coronado high school, was christened on May 19, 1917. The boat, with a lumber cost of $450, was only used a short time; later was sold to the Boy Scouts for $1 because there were no docking facilities available.

HAROLD A. SWAN

In those days he also taught biology and general science in addition to the other math courses. The student body then, Shoemaker has said, had approximately 100 students, a far cry from the 425 that jam the corridors today.

The late 1920s saw "Shoey" taking over a couple of extra curricular duties, one being charge of girls athletics. He remembers the basketball team well, with such locals as Nell Sykes, Eleanor Reynolds Ring and Martha Farnam competing with students from other schools in the area. He also taught physical education for boys for awhile.

Approximately 100 students a year go through Shoemaker's classes, his own children being a part of the passing parade of 3,500 youngsters that have learned their math from "Shoey."

Shoemaker's children, now all married, graduated from Coronado schools. Dick lives in San Diego; Edward in Philadelphia; Comdr. Ben Shoemaker Jr., USCG, now in Japan as head of marine inspection for the Far East, and Margaret, now Mrs. Wootters, makes her home in Chula Vista.

Born in Pasadena, Shoemaker graduated from Stanford University in 1910 with an A.B. and received his master's degree in 1911. Before coming to Coronado he taught at Easton high school, Fresno during 1911-12; Angels Camp high school, 1912-13; Burbank high school, 1913-14 and El Cajon Valley from 1914 to 1920.

Around Flower Show time the name of Shoemaker takes on another note of importance as residents here know him well for his lovely pansies and other annuals.

Also quite a camera "bug" Shoey and Mrs. Shoemaker plan to leave as soon as school is out for a four month trip around the edge of the United States where he can take pictures of the interesting scenery to his heart's content.

The other member of the pair going to a life of retirement is Harold A. Swan, drafting teacher for high school students and junior high school shops.

Swan arrived in Coronado in 1914 from Peru Township high school, La Salle, Ill., and took over the old kindergarten building for shop and mechanical drawing courses.

Within a year the school board realized that the building was much too small so in 1915 Swan drew plans for an addition to triple the floor space. "Oldsters" will remember the work and planning that went into the 30x40 addition and how proud everyone was when in 1916 a new combination woodworking machine, tool grinder, woodturning lathe, 15-inch machine lathe, two forges and anvils were installed in the new section.

Because the school was not too prosperous in those days, they tell us, Swan made much of the athletic and stage equipment for the old school with one of the biggest projects being a rowing barge 42 ft. long.

Clark B. Rude, then a member of the school board, wanted a barge similar to the Zlac Rowing Club barge so rowing might become a part of the physical education training program. The shop classes headed by Swan built the boat, plus 10 nine-foot curved tip oars.

Swan tells us the boat had $450 worth of lumber in it and was so large that when completed two windows and a section of the south wall of the shop had to be removed to get it to the water.

Christened the "Swan" after the builder on May 19, 1917, the boat was a source of much enjoyment that year because 10 passengers could ride in it besides the eight oarsmen and cockswain.

The fiasco of the whole affair, however, was the refusal of the school to build proper facilities to dock the vessel so back the barge went into the shop until the new high school was built and the old shop torn down. There was no room in the new shop, so the boat lay in the high school yard until 1922 when the Sea Scouts bought it for $1.

Seaman told us Swan had "inventive genius" not found often these days among teachers and the youngsters who graduate from his classes really know their business in woodworking, mechanical drawing, machine shop, forging, sheet metal work and wood building.

During World War II bedside table and toys for the Red Cross was a standard part of shop programs while Swan himself worked as a model maker in the shop at Convair, averaging 40 hours a week in addition to his teaching. He's also worked during the summer as a tool, pattern and model makes in Los Angeles, Oakland and North Island.

A native of Galesburg, Ill., the home of Carl Sandberg, Swan graduated from Bradley University with a degree in manual arts. He has also attended summer at the University of Wisconsin UCLA and Santa Barbara.

When asked what he was going to do after retiring Swan told us he was going to work on garden hose nozzles that he's invented and also on some sanding machinery which was patented some time ago. When these jobs are completed, he may try his hand at a little house-building on some of the property he owns around town.

A LITTLE MUSIC WHILE RELAXIN', Marvin Nottingham tells Harold Swan (center) and Benjamin Shoemaker as he presents the retiring teachers with radios at ceremonies Tuesday in the high school auditorium. Presentation on behalf of Coronado Teachers Association was a portion of the program given by students, faculty and school board members as a farewell to the two men who have a combined total of more than 75 years teaching in Coronado schools.

Burge, master of ceremonies at the affair, introduced A. E. Schaefer, Capt. A. J. Gray Jr., Mrs. Corrinne Carle, Paul M. Berry, Wilfrid C. Seaman and Carl Moyer, all of whom paid tribute to the two retiring teachers.
